Calls For More Child Care Funds, Unified Activities

The county should set up more funds for child welfare needs and place child-care activities under one head, the County Child Welfare council was told last night at a public meeting.

The proposals were offered by D. O. Meese, 591 Woodland road. He was among 70 persons who attended a meeting at the American Legion home to hear the report of a survey made recently in the county by the state welfare department.

Describing the report as "splendid," Meese said the county "should be willing to spend a few more thousands of dollars on child welfare needs."

The ultimate goal, he said, should be to have one person coordinate the child care activities to eliminate overlapping of services.

The survey is "important if it gets something done—even if it takes a couple of years," Meese told the group.

He said the county commissioners and the Child Welfare board should be "very much congratulated" in that they requested the state to make the survey. He said he had "sympathy" for any taxing authority that took the step the county commissioners took in requesting the survey.

Meese, pointed out that Richland county is spending $700,000 for a new TB sanatorium, said that he "couldn't think of anything more important than our children."

A recommendation for coordination of child care services in the county was included in the report submitted by the state.

Details of the report were presented last night by Judge Henry J. Robison, chief of the division of social administration; John R. Ferguson, head of children's services; Mrs. Virginia Ferguson, who directed the survey here, and Miss Mary Jane Paumier, who assisted her.

RECOMMENDS COUNCIL

The state's report recommended the creation of a Community Welfare council which would employ a coordinator of welfare activities.

Mrs. Ferguson said the council would be privately supported by funds of the Community Chest. She said the council would have to be organized by citizens, and it would then choose the paid secretary. The purpose of the council would be to coordinate the work of the agencies and not provide aid itself, Mrs. Ferguson said.

Vernon Lawrence, president of the welfare council, announced last night that a committee of 25 persons would study the state's report within the next two weeks and then report back to the council its recommendations in the light of the report.

W. E. Slabaugh, president of the Community Chest, said he felt that since the council would coordinate the work of both private and public agencies, the money for the secretary's work should come from both private and public sources.

In answer to his question on that, Mrs. Ferguson said that statute forbids payment of public funds in such instances. She added that such a set-up would be a benefit to the Community Chest since it would make the Chest dollar go further.

Asked about the availability of trained children's social workers, Ferguson admitted they were scarce, but added that the state welfare department has scholarships for persons interested and eligible to do graduate work in social work.

In return, the scholarship recipient agrees to go to work in a county as a social worker for two years, Ferguson said.

TRAINING AVAILABLE

He said on-the-job-training for social workers also was available.

Judge Robison outlined the background of the present County Children Services act, passed in 1945. He said that in 1937 the state welfare department had 3,000 wards, committed by juvenile courts, under its care. Now, that has been reduced to less than 50 by permitting counties to take care of their own neglected and dependent children, he said.

He said the law provides that county child welfare boards do whatever the children under its care require according to individual circumstances. He said the law puts the responsibility for child care on the communities.

Robison said the survey was meant to show what the child welfare board is doing at present in view of state laws. There was no attempt made to evaluate the past services of the board, he said.

Ferguson emphasized that the request for the survey came from the county commissioners. He said that at first the survey was to be on the question as to whether a new site should be found for the Children's home, but at a meeting with the commissioners and the Child Welfare board they all decided that a complete survey should be undertaken.

He said survey workers had splendid cooperation from Mr. and Mrs. George Reece, and from welfare agencies. Reece is secretary of the child welfare board and superintendent of the Children's home. Mrs. Reece is matron of the home and case worker.

NOT A COMPARISON

Ferguson pointed out that survey was based on the generally accepted standards of child care and not an attempt to compare the program here with other coun-

Three For A Quarter Tomorrow

School Pupils' Fare Unchanged

Mansfield bus riders Saturday will begin paying 25 cents for three tokens instead of four, the Mansfield Rapid Transit, Inc., announced today.

The single fare will remain at 10 cents. School children's fares will be unchanged. Pupils obtain passes giving them 10 rides for 50 cents.

The fare increase, authorized last spring by city council, will bring the cost of tokens to eight and one-third cents each in 25-cent lots. The former price was six and one-fourth cents.

E. L. Hukill, vice president of Ohio Rapid Transit, parent firm of the Mansfield company, said the fare increase here is the first since the buses started operating in 1937.

NEW BUSES DUE

Hukill said five new buses, last of 15 ordered after the bus company garage was destroyed by fire last November, will arrive about the middle of next week. They will be Ford buses carrying 27 passengers.

"We will have new buses on every base schedule when these arrive, giving Mansfield the best transportation system of any city this size in the country," Hukill said.

When the new buses arrive, the company will have only three old buses among the 27 operated in Mansfield, Hukill said. The old vehicles will be used only in emergencies. The 15 new buses represent an expenditure of about $190,000, Hukill said.

The bus company's new $100,000 garage on East Fourth street will be under roof in about 30 days if the weather permits construction work, the firm's vice president said. The building, on the site of the garage which was destroyed last fall, is expected to be completed by Dec. 15.

Frost Nips County Area

The frost was on the pumpkin and a lot of other vegetables in Richland county this morning.

The season's first frost of any consequence covered most of Ohio, but it arrived later than usual and caused little damage.

Mansfield's low temperature this morning was 35. Zanesville had 31, one below freezing.

Warmer weather was forecast today while Saturday will be cloudy and warmer, the weatherman said.

The U. S. weather bureau's five-day outlook follows:

"Temperatures will average two to four degrees below normal. A little warmer in the east portion Saturday. Cooler Sunday and Monday. Slowly rising temperatures Tuesday and Wednesday. Rain late Saturday or early Sunday and probably again Wednesday totaling about one-fourth inch in the west portion and one-fourth to one-half inch in the east portion.

HERO'S SON RECEIVES FLAG—Eight-year-old Colin Kelly III, receives the flag which covered the coffin of his famous father, Capt. Colin Kelly, at funeral services in Madison, Fla., (Oct. 13). Captain Kelly, hailed seven years ago as the first hero of the war in the Pacific, was buried amid scenes of his boyhood at Madison, in northern Florida. Presentation of the flag is made by Capt. William E. Frantz (left) of the 14th Air Force. Young Colin was recommended for a West Point appointment in 1956 by the late President Roosevelt.

2 Indicted In Fatal Accidents

Jurors Return 26 True Bills

The Richland county grand jury today named two youthful drivers on manslaughter charges in the deaths of Richland countians in traffic accidents.

The jury, completing its session about noon today, returned 26 true bills, five of them secret, after studying 34 cases since Wednesday morning. There were no indictments in eight cases.

Accused of second-degree manslaughter were James M. Gamble, 19, Shelby, and James F. Stumpf, 18, Galion.

Gamble is charged in the death of Wilford Hipp, Mansfield, at the foot of the Ashland hill early in September, while Stumpf was indicted in the fatal injury of Walter J. Bigler of Shelby in a traffic mishap west of Mansfield last May 16.

Other defendants named in the indictments and the charges against them were:

Calvin Lewis, 259½ North Main street, cutting with intent to wound; Hubert Hayes, Crestline, operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent; James A. Riggs, Olivesburg road, issuing 18 checks valued at $599 with insufficient funds; Kenneth Crooks, 459 Lily street, issuing check with insufficient funds; Cyrus J. Messimer jr., 405 West Fifth street, grand larceny; Gaylord R. Lookabaugh, 260½ North Mulberry street, receiving stolen goods; Donald F. Landon, Bellville, R. D. 2, breaking and entering; Willie Williams, alias Herman Williams, 71 East Sixth street, carrying concealed weapons; Stephen Moritz, grand larceny; Robert Hall, 319 Grace street, breaking and entering.

Frank Stevens, failure to provide for children; Richard D. Lookabaugh, 201 East Third street, grand larceny; Frances F. Merritt, alias Missie Merret, shooting with intent to wound; Jesse Curd, 224 North Diamond street, carrying concealed weapons; Earl Frisch, Shelby, breaking and entering; Cecil E. Beckett, Parkersburg, W. Va., uttering checks with insufficient funds, and Henrietta Smith, 65 East Sixth street, keeping a house of prostitution.

The jury followed up recommendations of many previous grand juries in urging construction of a new county jail "at the earliest possible time, considering building conditions and available public funds."

It was recommended that mattresses in the jail be examined and some be replaced.

The jurors commended Sheriff Frank Robinson for the well-kept jail which was found "clean and in good order."

The defendants will enter their pleas before Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch at 10 a. m. next Wednesday.

The jury found insufficient evidence for indictments in cases against these persons:

Cleo Wells, operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent; Saint Dickerson, carrying concealed weapons; Paul Bonner, malicious destruction of property; Charles Fletcher, shooting with intent to wound; Ivan Jagger, embezzlement; Eddie Lester and Henry Swope, cutting with intent to wound.

PRAISES AID PLAN

NEW YORK —(AP)— Paul G. Hoffman, economic cooperation administration head, said last night that with western Europe working together "as never before in history," the Marshall plan "has not only stopped the march of communism but has turned the tide in the other direction."

Martin Will Keep Pledge To Mother

BALTIMORE —(AP)— Forty years ago Glenn L. Martin promised his mother "some day, we'll fly across the country in one of our own planes."

Tomorrow—or shortly thereafter if the weather's bad—the airplane manufacturer and Mrs. Minta Martin, his 84-year-old mother will step into a sleek, speedy Martin 2-O-2 airliner to keep that pledge.

The trip will take them across the continent and deep into personal history—a history intertwined with the unfolding of aviation in which Martin played a trail-blazing part.

Atom Policy Made Issue In Campaign

Truman Blasts Dewey's Plan

(By Associated Press)

An atomic dispute sizzled in the election battle today as President Truman and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey fired new campaign charges.

Mr. Truman was ballot-bound through Indiana after a Milwaukee address in which he said his Republican presidential foe "implies" there ought to be "private exploitation" of atomic energy.

The New York governor meanwhile moved his vote hunt into Minnesota from Kansas City where he blasted the Democratic administration as too "tired" and "confused" to provide "good government."

Dewey spoke on atomic matters three weeks ago in Phoenix, Ariz. He said then that eventually the "dead head of government" must be lifted from atomic development—but that the present government monopoly must be continued until enforceable world controls are clamped on atomic weapons.

Henry Wallace also got into the atomic cross-fire at Milwaukee. The Progressive party's presidential candidate claimed credit for giving Mr. Truman his now-abandoned idea of sending Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson to Moscow to talk about the "atomic problem."

Wallace said that two weeks ago he demanded a resumption of negotiations with Russia and that when the people took up his demand, Mr. Truman was "forced" to make the Vinson assignment.

But, Wallace added, the "real masters" of our foreign policy—"the big brass and the big gold"—"clamped down and stopped Mr. Truman's move."

The president told his Milwaukee audience that Dewey showed a "dangerous lack of understanding" in bringing the subject of atomic energy into the political arena.

Man Who Dislikes U. S. Gets Bopped

John Merscher, 58-year-old Mansfield baker who doesn't like this country, evidently ran into someone who doesn't like people who are dissatisfied with the USA last night.

Police said they found Merscher at Springmill and Bowman street last night, cut and bruised from an evident fist fight. Merscher was treated at General hospital and released, all the time professing that he knew who did it but didn't want to file charges.

Early today, Merscher was in the sheriff's office, demanding that someone file charges but proclaiming that he did not know who did it.

Both police and sheriff's deputies said Merscher had been drinking.

A story of the baker's dissatisfaction with this city, the state and the country as a whole ran in last Sunday's News-Journal after Merscher came to the N-J office to voice his complaint. He said he wanted to return home to Yugoslavia.

All Blame Again Put On Allies

Charge Renewed By Vishinsky

PARIS —(AP)— Andrei Y. Vishinsky broke his Kremlin-imposed silence in the Security Council today and renewed his charge that the Berlin question arose because the western powers violated agreements with Russia.

Six lesser powers on the council earlier had appealed to the Big Four to settle the blockade by direct negotiation.

Foreign Minister Juan A. Bramuglia of Argentina, acting council chairman, asked the four big powers today for details on the Aug. 30 agreement between Prime Minister Stalin and western diplomats and for the instructions given the four military governors of Germany to implement the accord.

Under the agreement, Russia was to lift the blockade and the western powers were to recognize the Soviet mark as the sole currency for Berlin.

The American, British and French delegates said they were willing to answer Bramuglia's questions at the next council meeting on Berlin.

Vishinsky then rose and declared the Argentine's questions were a "very skilled" maneuver to drag the Soviet delegation into the Berlin debate.

COMPROMISE FAILS

The "neutral" nations—Argentina, Belgium, Canada, Colombia, Syria and China—had tried without success for a week to reach a compromise formula which might dissolve the issue. The western powers have refused any settlement which does not include immediate lifting of the blockade.

The United States, Britain and France accused Russia last week of endangering world peace and security by blocking the land approaches to Berlin, which lies deep in the Soviet occupation zone.

Vishinsky, prior to his talk, sat silently at the council table making doodles. He brought a well packed brief case and a full staff of assistants.

Four of the six lesser powers on the council said they believed there still is a possibility of a direct peaceful settlement. They said this after a week of exploratory talks with the Big Four delegates.

Gen. A. G. McNaughton of Canada said the Security Council must take "appropriate action" promptly.

Steel Theft Probe Pushed

DETROIT —(AP)— U. S. Atty. Thomas P. Thornton indicated today he would seek to link to one gang at least two of the recent hijackings of more than 135,000 pounds of sheet steel shipments into Michigan.

Thornton is directing a federal grand jury investigation of thefts of loads of steel from West Virginia, Ohio and Wisconsin. The Federal Bureau of Investigation has joined in the probe.

Two of the hijackings took place Saturday night. The empty trucks were found later abandoned in Highland Park, a Detroit suburb.

HANG 10 GERMANS

FRANKFURT, Germany—(AP)— Ten Germans convicted of war crimes were hanged today at Landsberg prison, near Munich, the U. S. army announced. Crimes charged to the 10 included the murder of captured American fliers.

Sen. Lucas to Address Crowd

Dems Expect 1,000 At Rally Tonight

The Richland county Democratic party's campaign will go into high gear tonight as Senator Scott W. Lucas, of Illinois, addresses a major rally here.

More than 1,000 persons are expected at the party's first major meeting, starting at 8 p. m. in John Simpson auditorium.

Lucas, the Democratic whip of the Senate, has served in the Senate since 1938. He is the senior senator from Illinois.

The Democratic candidate for Congress from this district, Attorney Robert W. Levering, of Mt. Vernon, will address the crowd.

Levering, a native of near Fredericktown, was captured in the Philippines by the Japs and was held a prisoner three and one-half years. He was an attorney with the war department at the time.

Representing the state Democratic ticket on the program will be State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson.

Chairman for the meeting will be Ralph Lutz, head of the county Democratic executive committee.

Attorney William A. Calhoun, president of the Richland County Young Democratic club, will introduce the local candidates.

ON 3 COMMITTEES

Lucas is a member of the Senate agriculture, forestry and finance committees.

He served in World War I, entering as a private and attaining the rank of lieutenant.

Lucas was commander of the Illinois American Legion in 1926 and national judge advocate of the Legion from 1927 to 1931.

He was a delegate to the national Democratic convention in 1932, 1940 and 1944. Lucas received his education at Illinois Wesleyan university. He is a lawyer and at one time was state attorney in Mason county, Ill.

Communists Face Trial

Party Leaders In Group of 12

NEW YORK —(INS)— Twelve top-ranking communists, including William Z. Foster, national party chairman, are scheduled to go on trial today in New York on charges that they advocated the overthrow of the government.

Evidence amassed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation is the principal prosecution ammunition to be used by U. S. Attorney John F. X. McGohey.

The twelve, indicted by a special grand jury last July, are Foster and:

Eugene Dennis, the Communist party's executive secretary; New York City Councilman Benjamin J. Davis jr.; John Gates, editor of the Daily Worker; John B. Williamson, trade union secretary; Henry Winston, organization secretary; Jacob Stachel, educational director; Robert G. Thompson; New York state party chairman; Irving Potash, chairman of the New York joint board of the Fur and Leather Workers union; Carl Winter, chairman of the Michigan state party; Gilbert Green, Chicago district chairman; and Gus Hall, Ohio state party chairman.

CLEVELAND —(UP)— A loyalty board hearing of charges against 24 Cleveland postal clerks has been suspended indefinitely.

50,000 'Bad Deal' GI Housing Claims Checked

WASHINGTON —(UP)— About 50,000 veterans have filed what the government believes may be valid complaints that the got a bad deal on their priority-built GI houses.

Another batch of close to 150,000 gripes by veteran home-buyers has been thrown out, it was disclosed today, either as unjustified or as not covered by law.

Complaints still are coming in, though slowly. They usually accuse builders of overcharges, defective construction, or failure to follow specifications.

The records were disclosed as experts from eight regional offices of the housing expediter left Washington under orders to clean up the backlog of complaints between now and March 31.

Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods, who returned this week from a nationwide tour, told his regional officials yesterday:

"I saw for myself some $11,000 homes less than one year old where daylight could be seen between the floor and the wall in the bedroom . . . too many veterans have complained to me bitterly about the run-around they have gotten.

"The government has a moral responsibility in this job. I will not accept excuses for backlogs (in files of complaints). If you can't handle the job yourself, get more assistance."

About 750,000 veterans homes were built in 1946 and early 1947 under a program set up by former Expediter Wilson W. Wyatt. In return for permits and priorities, builders submitted plans and set maximum prices.

Where evidence shows they failed to make good, the expediter can demand an adjustment. Gross violations can be prosecuted. Under a special grant by the last Congress, 300 compliance men have been hired.

Alfred J. Verhunce, deputy expediter for veterans affairs, emphasized that the "vast majority" of builders did the best possible job with materials that often were short or inadequate.

And most builders, he said, are ready to settle valid complaints. Voluntary settlements have been won so far on 1,826 homes. The GI buyers got adjustments totaling $490,746.

Thin Defense Guards U. S.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The United States' air defense in Alaska this winter apparently will consist of five bombers and one group of about 75 fighters.

Down at the other side of the American defense perimeter, the Panama Canal zone, there presently is no organized air combat unit.

This came to light today in connection with an air force announcement that three five-plane flights of the new B-50 bombers will rotate on training missions in Alaska between Nov. 1 and March 15. Under this program, only five of the bombers will be in the area at any one time.

Dinner For 500 Prepared In Hour

Navy Turns to Radar For Fast Cooking

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Here's one for the ladies:

The navy has found a way to cook a dinner for 500 men in just one hour. It's simple. Use radar.

This was disclosed by the navy today in reporting that it has been experimenting on how to put more wow into its chow.

The navy said extensive research is being done on radar cooking which is a new principle. War developed tubes are placed in an oven and countless energy waves penetrate the food in a matter of seconds.

By striking the many food molecules the waves start a violent vibration between the molecules which developes heat and cooks the food.

The navy estimates that with four of these radar ovens it would be possible in an hour to feed 500 men a meal of broiled steak, baked potatoes, fresh frozen peas and hot apple pie.

It also has been discovered in the experiments conducted at the supply corps school, Bayonne, N. J.:

1. Premixing of foods, such as cakes, muffins and hot bread mixes, have passed rigid tests for economy, storage and simplicity of preparation.

2. It is possible that in the near future many meals, already prepared, may be loaded aboard ships or planes. The navy says after heating, these meals are found to be as tasty as normally cooked food.

Quiz on Your Community Chest

They Ask?

Are Campaign solicitors paid?

The Answer:

Campaign solicitors are not paid, from the campaign chairman on down to the house-to-house solicitor. To check this, you have only to ask any one of the 500 volunteer workers in the campaign. These people generously give their time as well as their money to the Community Chest.

Poetry Subject Of Talk at Club Meeting

Mary Amstach Fimon of Shelby, a member of the Ohio Poetry society, was the guest speaker at the Review of Reviews meeting Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Howard Fox, Penn avenue.

The potluck dinner was served from a table centered with an arrangement of gold and brown mums.

Mrs. L. C Couchman was the guest for this meeting.

Mrs. William Carrier, president, conducted the business meeting.

The speaker illustrated different points of poetry with her own poems. She answered the question, "Why do we write poetry?" with the definition, "It is an outlet for emotion." She illustrated this with her own poem, "Dark Thoughts of a Light Lady," written about the recent Carol Landis, actress.

The title on a poem is used for a reason or point. This was illustrated with "Translation of Two Eyes Over a Wine Glass."

The next point given by the speaker was about making words tell the story of your thoughs.

The program was concluded with the rewards and hazards of writing poetry. "The Avocation Hazard" explained this point.

Mrs. Helen Loomis Linham's poem, "Hearts and Flowers," closed the meeting for the day

The next session will be at the home of Mrs. Warren Fort, Highland avenue.

Bucks Play 2nd Big Nine Game

Ohio State Plays First Tilt on Road

COLUMBUS — The Ohio State university football Buckeyes were scheduled to get on the train this morning for Bloomington and their second Big Nine conference game.

The host team is Indiana, which is supposed to be a pretty tough bunch to beat.

It's Ohio State's first road game of the year and they take to it a record of wins over Missouri and Southern California and a beating at the hands of the Iowa Hawkeyes last Saturday.

SIT ONE OUT

Pete Perini of New Village, N. J., is going along, but Coach Wesley Fesler said he wouldn't use the first string quarterback unless things got desperate. Perini still has some aches and pains from past injuries.

All have missed one or more games because of injuries.

Fesler said Bill Trautwein of Athens, a sophomore, would replace Wilson on the trip. Trautwein has been held up by a cut hand and a bad knee so far this year.

Pandel Savic will cover for Perini on offense. Bucky Wertz will take over Perini's linebacking chores, while Curly Morrison, a fullback, will be called upon to do most of the punting for the Bucks, another job usually handled by the versatile Perini.

Indiana, tied with Northwestern in the conference standings at two league victories and no losses apiece, is an even choice to down up-again-down-again Ohio State in their game at Bloomington, Ind.

TO SEE ACTION—Slated to see plenty of action in relief roles tonight is Pedro Pryor, tough Madison high guard. Pryor missed the first two games of the season with a head injury but has been coming fast since rejoining the squad. Madison will be host to Loudonville in its homecoming game at 8 p. m. (N-J Staff photo).

Michigan 11 Favored In Top Contest

NEW YORK — (UP) — Hard-hitting Michigan was favored to whip Northwestern in collegiate football's game of the week Saturday and thus create the possibility of putting a second place Big Nine team in the Rose Bowl.

A Michigan victory would make the Wolverines an automatic favorite for their second straight title but they won't be eligible for the Rose Bowl again until the 1950 campaign.

The Big Nine bowl agreement prevents any team from making the Pasadena invasion more than once in any three year span and Michigan had a crack at it last year, crushing Southern California.

TOPS SKED

This struggle of Western conference giants at Ann Arbor Mich., tops a weekend schedule including nine intersectional games and showdowns in most of the major conferences.

Headliners tonight are Villanova at Boston college, Kansas at George Washington, University of Miami at Detroit and Georgetown at Tulsa.

On Saturday, all the sectional leaders — Army, North Carolina, Georgia Tech, Notre Dame, California and Baylor — will be in action and all were favored by sizable margins.

Georgia Tech should wallop Auburn in one of five Southeastern conference games that may scramble the league race. Georgia is favored over Louisiana State, Tulane over Mississippi, Kentucky over Vanderbilt, while Tennessee and Alabama are held even Mississippi and the two Georgia schools are unbeaten in conference play.

Mississippi State, also unbeaten in the conference, takes on Cincinnati and Florida plays Rollins.

IN THE SOUTH

In the Southern conference, high-flying North Carolina was a heavy choice over North Carolina State but the key league game involves Duke and Maryland at Washington. Maryland is the current leader with two straight victories and nary a point scored against it this year.

Davidson plays at Citadel, VMI at Richmond, and William and Mary at Virginia Tech in other conference games.

Minnesota will attempt to keep its title hopes alive against Illinois. If Michigan beats Northwestern, Minnesota might cause a three-way tie by thumping Michigan on Oct. 23.

Indiana was favored over Ohio State, Purdue's chastened Boilermakers meet Iowa, and Wisconsin takes on Yale in an intersectional game at Madison.

IRISH FAVORED

Notre Dame, traveling to Nebraska, figured to have an easy time of it. Iowa State is favored over Colorado and Oklahoma over Kansas State in two Big Seven games.

In the Far West, California's Golden Bears, who look more and more like Rose Bowl choices, tangle with Oregon State. Oregon should beat Southern California, UCLA is favored over Stanford and Washington over Washington State.

Baylor, leading the Southwest conference with a 1-0 record, steps out to play Texas Tech. Southern Methodist makes its league debut against Rice, Texas Christian tangles with Texas A. and M. and Texas with Arkansas.

Topping the East are Harvard at Army and Pennsylvania at Columbia, with Army and Penn favored.

Among the better ones were Dartmouth over Colgate, Holy Cross over Brown, Penn State over West Virginia, Cornell over Syracuse, Princeton over Rutgers, and Pittsburgh over Marquette.

Miami Coach Concentrates On Winning, Nothing Else

By FRITZ HOWELL, Ohio AP Sports Writer

COLUMBUS—Blow out that lantern, Diogenes, we've found that honest guy for you! Your quest is over.

Our nomination is George Blackburn, Miami university coach, carrying on so well in the wake of Stu Holcomb and Sid Gillman. His Redskins have won everything except the Virginia game, and in that one turned in a hefty upset by going to a 14-14 tie.

"We're down here to win games, not to tie or lose 'em," George says. "Some coaches may concentrate on developing character, but we'll concentrate on winning.

"After we win our games, if we can find time for it we'll try a little of that character building on the side. That's all well and good. But first we go out to win."

The customers always write!

Generally "irate fans" and "loyal followers" who dash off heated notes to sports editors sign their names that way, but here's one the blue-coated man delivered today.

The writer put his own "John Henry" on it, so we pass it on as a typical example of what a sports writer spends quite a bit of time reading each day:

Dear Mr. Howell:

"Reading your column, in the Alliance Review sports column, you and a handful of sports writers rate the Massillon Tigers as No. 1 even in Ohio this year. May I ask you on what facts do you base this on? I firmly believe that the Alliance eleven rates an even bid with the Massillon Tigers and not a No. 9 berth as you have them rated.

"However this weekend of the 15th will reverse your No. 1 rating and will put an undefeated and undisputed Alliance team in the No. 1 spot.

"If I were you Mr. Howell, I would reserve a seat on the 50-yard line and watch Alliance topple the mighty Massillon Tigers from the throne by a score of 18 to 11."

Signed Harold ———

(Harold, you may have something there and if Alliance wins this week over Massillon you may count on that handful of sports writers doing right by your favorite Aviators.)

Yuncker Hits 603 Series In Commercial B

Leo Yuncker stood alone at the top of the bowling heap last night as he recorded the only honor roll series in six leagues.

Rolling in the Commercial "B" league at Colony, Yuncker got better as he went along. He opened with a mild 179, jumped to 200 and roared down the stretch with a 224 for a 603 series.

Joe DeYarmon and Ed Heinrich tied for runner-up honors with 586 series while Al Stirtzinger rolled a 585. Close behind were: Earl Forman, 582; F. Hipp, 579, and Jennings Heiser and Carl Heilman, 571.

Rose Bowl, with all members over 500 and DeYarmon, Stirtzinger and Forman over 580, soared to a 2797 total and tied Dearman's for the league lead with three straight victories. Rose Bowl had three single games over 900, the best of which was 954.

Mansfield Beverage won three straight games to deadlock the Women's A league lead with Ohio Sports Center which had to be content with victory in two of three games.

Donna Schuster did her best to keep Sport Center on top as she spilled the pins for 181-188-210—579. The score was easily the best of the league as Helen Wilhelm was second with 524. Others over the 500 mark were: Helen Civay, 521; Sue Humphrey, 516, and Mary McMullen, 508.

A 498 by Betty Miller paced the Women's Industrial league. Mary Smoot rolled a 466, followed by Millie Bonecutter, 462, and Emma Frontz, 459.

Bill Gordon set the pace in the Tappan Stove league with a 572 series compiled on games of 184, 166, and 187. He was trailed by F. Domer, 551, and Joe Harrod, 549.

Other leading scores in the league: Clayton Donnan 548, Ed Rogers, 536, and B. Brewer, 525.

Frank Keifer led the Amvets over the Richland Recreation alleys with a 538 series on consistent games of 168, 172, and 198. S. Fox posted a 518 score while B. Kepler turned in a 496.

Hulda Pable led the Amvet Auxiliary with 127-163-136—426. Her 163 was the best single game score. Pollyanna Boone had 361 and Margie Fox 356. The Drive-In-Fires had high team total with 1,6..

Ram Frosh Team Defeats Junior High 11

The Madison freshman team scored a 12-6 victory over the East Mansfield junior high eleven yesterday at Madison field. It was the first game for East Mansfield.

Dick Barr scored both touchdowns for the frosh as he caught a 15-yard pass from Jerry Tallentire in the first quarter, and broke loose for a 70 yard jaunt to win the game late in the fourth period.

East Mansfield scored at the beginning of the fourth quarter, on a pass from Aungst to Reed.

Bucyrus Redmen Go Against Easy Galion Gridders

Bucyrus' mighty Redmen, who have gained state-wide recognition with their lop-sided victories will go after the most top-heavy one of all tonight when they invade Galion for a Northern Ohio league contest.

Galion is buried deep in the basement with three straight defeats in league play. Bucyrus meanwhile rides roughshod at the top as the only undefeated team.

Only two other games are listed on tonight's NOL card as Crestline and Shelby take time out for non-league games. In loop contests, Bellevue will travel to Norwalk and Upper Sandusky to Willard.

Shelby goes after its second victory at hapless Ashland while Crestline travels to Tiffin Calvert. Standings:

Sibby Sisti Set For Operation

BOSTON — (AP) — Sibby Sisti, Boston Braves' infielder, who is thinking of claiming the title of "baseball's most stitched player" will have his appendix removed today at St. Elizabeth's hospital.

Sibby, who filled in so capably at second base as the Braves battled to the National league pennant, has had spike wounds stitched and has undergone leg and shoulder separation operations.

Grid Loop May Be on Way Out

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK (NS) — [illegible] writing on the wall [illegible] are a reader of handwriting on the wall—indicates that the All-America conference pro football league is about to go [illegible].

If this three-year-old [illegible] really is on the way out it's a pity. The National league has grown creaky when the All-America came along to put some pep in pro football.

The new circuit also brought about a rich harvest for college players entering pro ball.

The National league was a doddering cold-blooded outfit infested with selfish people whose main concern was to make all the money possible while paying football players as little as possible.

The All-America changed that to marked extent. If the new league is out of business after [illegible] seasons as seems likely, it will be overstaying [illegible] for the boost in salaries and [illegible] by the departing outfit.

When the All-America goes the competition for talent will be wiped out but the standards set by the All-America will remain.

One thing is certain. The All-America will finish out this season despite staggering losses in most cities. Next season is what is troubling its backers. There may not be a next season.

At a closed meeting yesterday many matters were discussed but reported[illegible] the tenor of the gathering was gloomy indeed. The newcomer to pro football made a good try, but apparently decided that its weaknesses outweigh its strong points.

One of the big factors setting the new league back is the poor start made by some of the key teams such as the New York Yankees.

The New York Giants are just as shabby in the National league but the older circuit is so well established and has built up so strong a following that the setback isn't vital.

It generally is assumed in eastern sports circles that the All-America definitely is washed up after this season unless something unforeseen comes up to keep the league going.

It can't rock along any longer in its present state and the National league has shown no disposition to step in and save the day by agreeing to a post-season game, or by consolidating the two circuits.

Uncle Sam Puts On Ear Muffs for Cold Task

U. S.-Canada Plan Joint Arctic Defense

WASHINGTON —(CP)— The long days of the Arctic summer are waning rapidly, and with the lengthy polar winter at hand there is evident here a feeling on the part of the high strategists that the United States and Canada are slightly more secure in their top-'o-the-world defense.

There is far from complete agreement in defense circles here and in Ottawa, Canada, over the amount of active military strength needed to secure the far northern outposts, but all hands agree that it now is a zone of primary importance.

Uncle Sam, figuratively speaking, is fitting a helmet over his head. Canada is determined that it shall not be the "paper skull" of the New World, vulnerable to attack.

The men who move the pieces in this global chess game of security have drawn an arc roughly 2,000 miles across as the major defense region in the north for both nations.

Compared with the recent past, the once-deserted far northland during the last few months has been as busy as New York's Broadway and 42nd street intersection. Sixty major field parties have been crossing and recrossing it collecting all sorts of data for Canada.

MINERALS SOUGHT

In addition, scientists and prospectors under their direction have trudged through the hitherto uninhabited latitudes north of the Arctic Circle in search for uranium, thorium and pitchblende—all vital atomic bomb raw materials; gold, oil, coal and natural gas.

Terrestial magnetism and the exact location of the magnetic north pole was another special objective for explorations by both Canadian and American scientists.

Map-making in one of the few remaining parts of the earth's surface still scantily charted was a major concern of groups sent out by the United States under its Committees on Geographic Exploration and on Geophysical Sciences, both units of the national military establishment.

Much of the work is cloaked by the secrecy of national security, but Dr. L. R. Hafstad, executive secretary of the Defense Department's Research and Development Board, gave a broad hint when he stated that our maps have not been accurate enough for guided missile projection across the top of the world.

The North Pole itself, laboriously reached by Peary and the quest of many explorers of only a generation ago, was crossed and recrossed repeatedly by American aircraft of the 46th Reconaissance Squadron stationed in Alaska and charged with the task of photo-mapping the area and spotting likely places for defense posts.

It is estimated that these pilots have flown two million miles over the region for a total of nearly 10,000 hours of flying, and have visited the Pole itself more than a hundred times.

Over the Pacific, the quest of the Air Force has been to locate the tricky high pressure areas which control weather in the far north.

Not only are stations being located for weather forecasting, but also radar outposts are being positioned to detect the approach of jet craft or guided missiles such as might herald the opening of the first war begun in the atomic age.

Many new things have been learned, including the fact that there are three, not one, magnetic poles. These mysterious points which attract a magnetic compass are in an elipticallly shaped area with the major pole on Prince of Wales Island and two lesser poles on Bathurst Island and the Bothia peninsula.

The National Geographic Society reports that two new weather stations will be set up by Canadian and United States meteorologists at Prince Patrick and Ellef Ringnes islands, only 850 and 750 miles, respectively, from the North Pole.

Citation Races, So Owners Cut Cup Field to Six

NEW YORK — (AP) — Entries close today for the Empire City gold cup, and, thanks to Citation, it looks like a small field of six horses for the $100,000 international gallop.

The second running of the mile and five furlong classic is set for tomorrow at Belmont park. Two European horses and three from this country probably will oppose the great Calumet farm triple crown champion.

Nathoo, a grey English three-year-old owned by the Aga Khan, is a definite starter among the foreign contenders. Final word is expected during the day on the Belgian champion, Bayeux.

Other American horses besides Citation are Phalanx, Miss Grillo, and Drumbeat, with a remote possibility Conniver might get another chance.

2—Card of Thanks

I WISH to thank the friends and neighbors for their kindness shown during the recent illness of Mrs. Flora Favor. Also the Rev. W. M. Taylor for his kind visits and message.

Mrs. Ruth F. Groves

3—In Memoriam

IN MEMORY of our dear mother, Mrs. Emma Witzky Miller, who passed away one year ago today, October 15, 1947.

OUR MOTHER

She was not a sparkling diamond,
Nor even a ruby rare,
Just a ordinary jewel
That anyone could share

She could smile if she were weary
Grin and walk the road so rough.
Ever there to share our burdens
When we thought the going tough.

Then came the time for parting
And we had to say good-bye
Death came swiftly like an arrow
Breaking through the binding tie.

Tho' we searched the whole world over,
We could never find another
That would half-way match the glowing jewel
That was my precious Mother.

Sadly missed by,
Mr. Willis Witzky,
Mrs. Louis Motter
and Family's.

Thurmond Ends Kentucky Campaign, Blasts Opponents

COVINGTON, Ky.—(AP)—Gov. J. Strom Thurmond today completed his Kentucky campaign after accusing his three opponents for the presidency "either of ignorance or malicious intent."

The States' Rights Democratic candidate said here last night that "these three candidates . . . have become the political agents of a kind of doctrine that would be fatal to the American system of government.

"The States' Rights Democrats do not claim that the enactment of the mis-named civil rights program of Truman, Dewey and Wallace would automatically convert America into a police state.

"But we do maintain that they would open the doors of government so wide that there would be no protection left against the inroads of communism and the encroachment of the total state."

The South Carolina governor ended his Kentucky stump tour saying, "We cannot accept the socialistic claptrap of Henry Wallace . . . the use of petty people to front for Pendergrast-type big-city machines, such as Harry Truman's administration has brought . . . Or the big-government, special-interest, high-tariff leadership of someone like Tom Dewey."

"The States' Rights Democrats did not come into being to seize power. On the contrary, we are determined to make it certain that the power of government shall remain with the people," Thurmond said.

More Child Care Funds Proposed

ties. He said the program may be better here than in some counties and not as good as that in others.

Mrs. Ferguson said the Children's Home site was excellent because of its accessibility to the community.

She pointed out that the county should spend money for services and not for construction, which was the reason for not recommending a new building.

She listed two major recommendations: immediate reduction of the Home population by removing pre-school children to foster homes, and improvement of bathroom facilities, which she called "terribly inadequate." She said the population should be reduced from a capacity of 70 to a capacity of 46.

She said pre-school children need the love and affection of parents—even if they are substitute parents in a foster home Mrs. Ferguson called for more preventive and protective services to be provided for families to "hold families together."

STAFF TOO SMALL

She said the drastic reduction of the board staff in 1947 was showing its effects now and added that the present staff cannot possibly do all the work required of it.

She added that the child welfare board's office should be downtown and not at the Children's home, so that it would be available to parents and agencies.

Mrs. Ferguson said the board received $48,000 to operate in 1948 plus $3,000 for some new equipment, a slight increase over previous years. She said the increase was a reflection of the higher cost of operations.

She said that it will cost more money than that for the program, but only a fraction of what a new Children's home would cost.

Girl Scouts Plan Halloween Parade

ASHLAND — Girl Scout Week will be celebrated by Ashland's 600 Girl Scouts Oct. 31 to Nov. 6 with several special events planned.

Mrs. W. G. Dallas will address the girls at a special service to be held Sunday, Oct. 31 at Trinity Lutheran church. On Wed., Oct. 27, the girls will assist the Navy Mothers club with the sale of Navy Day tags.

Girl Scouts will participate in the city Halloween parade Oct. 28 when a prize is offered for the best appearing troop.

New Factor Seen Holding Down U. S. Supply of Meat

WASHINGTON —(NS)— The Agriculture department issued another report to support its contention that meat supplies will fall short of consumer demand at least until late 1949.

The department said the number of lambs to be fattened for the coming winter and spring market is expected to be the smallest since the 1926-27 season

The 1948 lamb crop was the smallest in 24 years.

Lack of moisture in the wheat pasture areas of Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas, retarding fall wheat growth, was described as a major cause of reduced lamb feeding

The department reported that substantial reductions from last year are indicated for most of the corn belt states and said the number of lambs to be fed in the western states probably will be down also.

Tiro Prepares For Festival

TIRO — This small village is getting ready again. This time the village is preparing to be host to an expected 2,000 people at the firemen's festival next Wednesday night. In case of rain the festival will be held on Thursday night, Oct. 21.

Almost all the residents of the community will have some part in the festival activities or the preparation for them. Advance work is now in full swing. Several truck loads of food including chicken, hamburg, milk, cakes and pies are to be collected the first of the week for sale in sandwiches and as pie and cake.

Marion Airport Work Started

MARION—(NS)—Work on Marion's new $750,000 airport was officially under way today. Ground was broken yesterday on the first stage of the project, to cost a half-million dollars and to be completed by Nov. 1, 1949 It includes grading, draining and the installation of blacktop runways.

Price Increased On Steel Alloys

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — A price increase of $5.50 a ton in grade extras on alloy steel products has been announced by the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation.

The company also announced yesterday that size extras on flat bar alloy products have been raised an average of $5 a ton.

Piles Are Never "Mild"

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formation without tendency to heal themselves, instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief—written guarantee My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties

Why not call and learn of this method? The examination is free

Sees Dewey As Winner

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(UP)—Columnist Drew Pearson predicted today that President Truman will be the "worst defeated President in history."

The Washington columnist addressed an audience here last night, under auspices of the local Kiwanis club. He said the electoral college vote will cause Mr. Truman to take the worst defeat in history. He said the President would carry four eastern and western states—Rhode Island, Minnesota, Arizona and Missouri.

Pearson also discussed the possibility of peace or war. He said, "I think in the next 10 years we will neither have active war or peace. We will have a drawn-out war of nerves, an intense cold war."

He added, "We must spend more brains and energy on propaganda . . . we must have a powerful air force. But winning this cold war depends on whether we speak friendship and democracy with the same fervor—and more so—that we used to win the last war."

New Spy Charges Hurled at Reds

WASHINGTON —(NS)— Secret testimony that two communist underground organizations operated within the State department before the war was disclosed Thursday by the House un-American Activities committee.

This information was given at a closed meeting of a subcommittee on Aug. 27 by Whittaker Chambers, self-styled former spy courier and now an editor of Time magazine.

Barnhill Heads GOP Vets Group

Others named to office at the meeting held at Rader's restaurant include Harold Thompson, first vice president, George E. Marble, second vice president; Howard Zimmerman, secretary-treasurer.

The veterans were addressed by Dewey Garner, executive secretary of the Ohio Republican Veterans committee.

Youngsters Confess They Tossed Dewey Tomatoes

MT. VERNON, Ill. —(AP)—Four teen-aged youngsters threw those tomatoes at Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for the "fun of it" and each said, "I'm sorry," police reported.

The Republican presidential nominee was splattered by ripe tomatoes during a rear-platform talk here Tuesday night.

Chief of Police Verner L. Pigg and Capt. R. C. Winder of the Illinois state police said today the four boys, ranging in ages from 14 to 17, each signed the same statement in which they called their act a prank.

"I got fun out of it. I wouldn't do it again, I'm sorry it took place," the statement said.

The boys were given a lecture on Americanism. Then they were released on their pledges they would never do it again and would not permit others to do such a thing.

Painting By Ike Brings $2,600

NEW YORK —(AP)— A painting by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was sold for $2,600 at a benefit auction last night.

The picture, which Eisenhower did for the urban league, a group to aid Negroes, brought by far the highest price as paintings by 100 celebrities went under the hammer.

Eisenhower's painting is of an Indian, and on the reverse side is a landscape, the general's first attempt at painting for fun.

The successful bidder was William S. Wassell, who is in the baking business in Philadelphia.

Plymouth to Build Four Room School

PLYMOUTH—The Plymouth school board has let a contract for the construction of a four-room grade school building on the site of the old school building on West Broadway built in 1870.

In 1941 plans were formulated for a new grade school building. Passing a bond issue of $47,500 and a promise of $30,000 in aid from the National Youth Act, resulted in tearing down the old school building.

It was impossible to start the new building, but an annex to the high school was completed at a cost of $13,000 from the board's funds. The N. Y. A. aid was withdrawn. Nothing more was attempted owing to the war.

In 1946, with an increase in school population, the board of education again considered the problem of building. A bond of $50,000 was passed by the voters.

A new architect, Charles Marr, was employed to draw up new plans for a building and an advertisement for bids brought a low of $175,000. After plans were revised, the bid of $155,000 was received.

In the third attempt on a smaller plan no general construction bids were received.

The board extended the time of advertising and, in August 1948, received bids for $95,000 for a four room and $133,000 for a six room building. Now the building fund has $77,000 cash and $10,000 in material to start the four room building but it will not be sufficient.

A bond issue of $48,000 making an increase in the levy of $1.34 for each $1,000 valuation, which brings the bonded indebtedness of Plymouth school district up near the state imposed limitation of 5% of the tax duplicate, will be submitted to the voters on November 2.

Blue-Tri Club To Go on Hayride

Eighty members and guests of the Junior Blue-Tri club of the YWCA are expected to attend a hayride Saturday night. The group will meet at Cline and Marion avenues at 7.15 p. m.

Betsy Clark is chairman of the committee planning the hayride. Other members of the committee are Shirley Lay, Margaret Reese, Donna Brandt, Martha Bell, Dolores Whitlatch, Pauline Mennette, Mary Lou Thompson, Pat Knapp, and Evelyn Urich.

The YWCA will not be responsible for any accidents which may happen on hayrides, according to Miss Ann Knapp, Y-Teen director.

Hear Talk On 'Hamlet'

A talk on "Hamlet" in preparation for Lawrence Olivier's film presentation of the famous "mad prince" was given last night by Mrs. Harold Andrews, English teacher at Ashland college before members of the Mansfield Federation of City Teachers.

The meetung was held at the YMCA with W. B. Lantz president introducing Mrs. Andrews.

A student of Shakespeare, Mrs. Andrews said Hamlet was not a tragedy as commonly known because he ended his story by really finding faith.

Tom Swishet president of the senior class at Mansfield Senior high school and Anne Shawber editor of the Hyphonerian, spoke to the teachers on the proposed $2,250,000 school bond issue.

Members of the federation voted to back the issue unanimously and donated $50 to the campaign fund.

Teachers last night also were asked to support the newly-formed Mathematics Council in the city of which Ralph Juniper is president. The council has been formed to improve the quality of mathematics teaching. V. E. "Sam" Vining will be the next speaker for the group.

It is open to persons who are interested in mathematics whether or not they are teachers.

Court Upholds Jury's Verdict

Fifth district court of appeals has affirmed a Richland county Common Pleas court jury verdict, awarding Betty Lyons of Nelsonville a $6,000 damage judgment against R. N. VanDyne, former owner of the DeLuxe Cab company.

Miss Lyons asked $15,000 for injuries suffered as a result of having been struck by a DeLuxe cab on Aug. 26, 1943 at Fourth and Main streets. The action against VanDyne was filed by Lawrence Lyons as next friend of the girl.

Printer Union Files Appeal

INDIANAPOLIS (INS)—Officials of the AFL-International Typographical union today awaited the outcome of an appeal on a federal court decision against them.

The four officers found guilty with the union of having "failed and refused to obey" an injunction were silent on the verdict handed down yesterday in Indianapolis by Judge Luther M. Swygert.

ITU Secretary Don Hurd said that no statement would be issued by the union until a close study had been made of the decision.

The ITU seeks a stay of the contempt decision.

Sophomore Blue-Tri Installs Officers

Those installed in office included Joanne Bruce, president, Barbara Jisa, vice president, Sue Wagner, secretary, Lois Reichett, treasurer.

The group made plans for a hayride to be held Nov. 20. Mrs. Eugene Bradley is adviser.

P-TA Head Asks Action

A request that the Brinkerhoff school area be re-districted in case the proposed school bond issue fails this fall was made last night at a meeting of the Brinkerhoff P-TA.

The request was made by Martin Merschdorf, president of the P-TA, following a talk by H. W. Arlin, president of the board of education, who spoke on "Mansfield's School Expansion Program."

The request was made Merschdorf said because of the overcrowded conditions at Brinkerhoff. He asked that pupils be redistributed to other schools in case the bond issue failed.

Following Arlin's talk members voted to donate $50 toward campaign expenses.

Mrs. C. Wilson Barnes membership chairman reported a total P-TA membership of 100 the largest ever recorded for the Brinkerhoff P-TA.

Harold George athletic chairman reported on the status of the football equipment for the school.

Following the meeting refreshments were served by the hospitality committee headed by Mrs. William Spoerl.

Missions School Opens

The school of missions will open at St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church at 7:30 p. m. The meeting will be preceded by a carry-in supper at 6:30 p. m.

Dr. Gilbert W. Schroer director of the Missionary Cooperative movement and Mrs. Schroer, both missionaries in Japan for 20 years, will address the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Oberholtzer and Dr. and Mrs. J. Campbell White, all former missionaries, will take part in the open forum to be held at the close of the meeting.

Two movies, "My Name Is Han" and "Letter from China," will be shown following the class sessions.

Farm Bureau Plans Tour Of East For Ohio Farmers

(Special to The News-Journal)

COLUMBUS — At the request of scores of Buckeye farmers, the Ohio Farm Bureau has announced plans for a nine-day tour of the east in connection with attendance at the annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation in Atlantic City, N. J., Dec. 13-15.

Although plans have not yet been completed, present arrangements with the Pennsylvania railroad call for a three-day stop in New York prior to the Atlantic City visit. Ohio farmers will be given the opportunity of seeing Radio City, the Statue of Liberty, the Empire State Building, and other famous spots.

From New York the Buckeye Special will take tour members to Philadelphia to visit the cradle of American liberty, Independence Hall. A few hours later, the train will pull out for Atlantic City for sessions of the American Farm Bureau's annual meeting.

Approximately 8,000 Farm Bureau members from all parts of the United States are expected to attend, according to Allan B. Kline, AFBF president. Among the speakers will be Senator George D. Aiken of Vermont, chairman of the Senate Agricultural Committee and author of the Hope-Aiken long-range farm bill.

The Buckeye Special will leave Atlantic City at noon Dec. 15 for Washington where members will visit AFBF offices, see the White House, Lincoln Memorial, and ride to the top of the Washington Monument. Other sights, including Mt. Vernon, will be seen by the tourists.

The party will leave Columbus Dec. 9 and will return Dec. 18. Cost has been estimated at about $100 per person for transportation and lodging. Full information will be available by writing Tour Director, Ohio Farm Bureau, Columbus 16, Ohio.

Meals Free For Trips In Ashland

ASHLAND—Ashland's fame-gaining ABC triplets today are enjoying free meals in Ashland's Good Samaritan hospital through the courtesy of the Blue Cross Hospitalization plan.

What's more, the room rent will also be on Blue Cross. The hospitalization service will pay the major share of the hospital bill for Amy, Becky and Candace.

These were mighty welcome words today to Papa Amos D. Mumaw, 321 Ohio street, Ashland, and Mrs. Mumaw. They are also the parents of three other children—for a current total of six. Mumaw, an Erie railroad freight checker, frankly was worried over the staggering hospital bill he had to face.

Legion Holds Tryouts On Sunday

Shelby Minstrel Rehearsals Start

SHELBY — Stage tryouts for the American Legion Minstrel show will take place 2:30 p. m. Sunday at the Legion home.

John Eckelberry, commander of the O'Brien post, announced last night that tryouts for the speaking parts in this year's minstrel are open to any member of the community who feels the urge to don blackface.

Tryouts for the chorus and specialty numbers will be held at a later date.

Mrs. Myra Cook, last year's directress, will again direct and write the show.

Galion Railroader Retires

GALION — With a record of never being involved in a train accident or serious mishap in 36 years of service as brakeman and conductor, Joseph Everly of 310 West Summit street, has retired from the New York Central railroad.

In 1912, he began work as a brakeman on the Big Four at a time when the road was not a branch of the New York Central system.

He worked for many years as a conductor on the Shelby run, a local freight train working in this area. Before his retirement he was conductor of a work train in Galion.

With the exception of several years spent in Cleveland, he lived in Galion during the entire period of his service.

Former associates met at his home recently and presented him and his wife with a radio and other gifts.

Den 2 Cubs are Roland Sautter, David Grooms, Ned Reece, Robert Miller, Ronald and Donald McClaren, Gerald Bosh and Richard Maidens.

Other Pack officials include Robert Maidens, Kenneth Grooms, Earl Bowman, Don Bush and M. Doyle Rusk. Plans for November call for an achievement display meeting with dens competing for prizes.

Galion Club Adopts Plan

GALION — The Galion Business and Professional Women's club observed National Business Women's week at its October meeting last night. This featured an address by Mrs. Beth Johns of Berea, O., third vice president of the state organization of the BPW who also is chairman of public relations.

In keeping with the national observance and the national slogan "Use Your Vote in '48," the club heard Leo J. Scanlon of Crestline, Crawford county prosecuting attorney explain the mechanics of a national election. Electoral vote and the people's vote, and the method of marking a ballot, were described by the prosecutor.

Nearly 50 were present for the meeting which was opened with a novel "Raggedy Ann" supper at 6:30 o'clock.

Wallace's 'Explosions' Just Duds

Fail To Rouse His Audiences

CHICAGO — (AP) — Day by day Henry Wallace's campaign accusations have grown more explosive.

Reporters who have flown 7,400 miles in three weeks with the Progressive presidential candidate are wondering how much further he will go in the bitterness of his attacks on "big business," "big brass," and "Dooman and Trewey."

SPEAKS QUIETLY

But the blow-torch phrases of his recent speeches seem much more inflaming on paper than they do when Wallace reads them to an audience.

He is not the rabble-rousing type of speaker.

He seldom raises his voice to put over a purple punch line. Many a sledge-hammer sentence passes practically unnoticed. He doesn't wave his hands or toss his head.

FOLLOW PATTERN

Wallace meetings nearly always pursue the same pattern.

At first there is group singing. Local candidates and local party leaders make short speeches.

Then comes Gailmor, a New York city radio commentator, black- moustached, glib, professional. He gets the crowd in a good humor with jokes and wisecracks.

And then he tells them that since this is a "people's party" the people have to pay the expense of radio broadcasts, printing leaflets, and so on.

Gailmor starts high in his ringing call for cash. If it's a large audience, as at Los Angeles or San Francisco, he demands to know who will stand up and say "count me in for one thousand dollars." In a smaller, poorer audience he may begin with $100 or $50.

Then he gradually works on down to the smaller denominations, keeping up a machine-gun commentary.

Now comes the speaker of the evening.

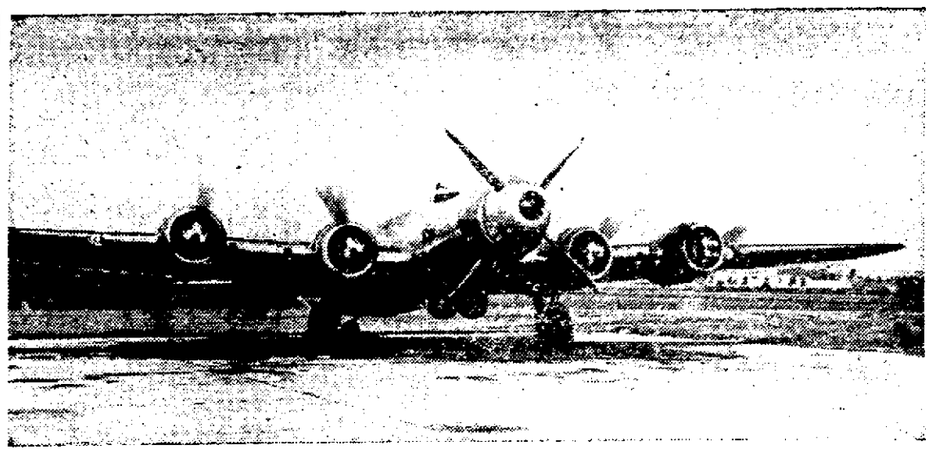
Wallace comes forward with his mouth open and his teeth showing in a set grin. He waves. The crowd cheers.

Wallace puts on his glasses, and starts reading the script. Solemnly, sometimes droningly, he plows on through his denunciations.

He says a vote for the progressive party is the only vote for peace.

There are many variations and elaborations, concerning Germany, Spain, Winston Churchill, Arabian oil, civil rights, farm policies, and the need for "getting morally right with ourselves," but that is the basic theme.

When he finishes, he takes off his glasses, grins, nods, and waves again.



AN AIRCRAFT MYSTERY of the past few weeks has been cleared up with the disclosure that a five-engined plane has been undergoing tests along the East coast. The craft, shown above, is a converted B-1 Flying Fortress with a new engine mounted in the nose assembly where the bombardier used to be stationed. The extra engine if a T-35 Typhoon, a turbine, with a four-bladed propeller. The results of the tests, held in cooperation with the U. S. Air Force, are being kept a temporary secret from the public. Eats Grasshopper

MACON, Ga.—(UP)—Coed Ann Miller, psychology student at Mercer university here, said today that people will do anything if there's enough money in it.

To prove it, Ann ate a grasshopper to win a $2 bet. Tasted "kind of crisp," Ann said.

High Costs Cut Building

SEATTLE— —(INS —One of the government's top housing officials predicted today that there will be a "marked" 'slump in home buying soon, unless builders cut their prices.

Housing and Home Finance Administrator Raymond M. Foley told the annual conference of the National Association of Housing officials that the limits for high home prices and rents "are already being approached."

Foley said he believes that the builders will meet the need for more low-cost homes.

If they don't, he warned that buyer resistance will cause "a marked falling off in the volume of housing construction, with all the bad implications of such a development to the national economy as well as to the housing needs of the American people."

Stolen Truck Found on Road

Sheriff's deputies have recovered an abandoned truck, belonging to the Mansfield Hardware and Supply company, on U. S. Route 30-N, east of the Erie railroad crossing.

The truck was reported stolen from in back of the hardware company, 70 North Foster street, Monday night. Deputies recovered the truck after receiving a call that a truck was parked partly on the highway.

Mrs. Kasenkina's Story—No. 20

Movie Emphasizes Escape Difficulty

By OKSANA S. KASENKINA
(Edited By Isaac Don Levine)

Last spring, as the date of the closing of our school was drawing near and preparations were being made for our return to Soviet Russia, my distress grew from day to day.

During the two years I had spent in New York I had never been inside an American home, although I was surrounded by the friendliest and most hospitable people on earth. But I had not been permitted to develop even a single acquaintanceship with an American neighbor.

I was like a person drowning in a sea of humanity. Yet as I was silently casting about for a rescuer, I saw no one who could catch the terror in my heart and cast a line to save me.

About this time "The Iron Curtain," the film based on the experiences of Ignor Gouzenko, the code clerk in Ottawa whose attempt to escape with his family from the Soviet vise led to the exposure of the Canadian spy ring, was being shown at the Roxy Theatre in New York. I overheard by Communist guardians ridiculing the movie in conversation, and made up my mind there and then to see it as soon as possible.

On a rainy Sunday I slipped out of my room in the Porojniakov apartment and took a taxi to the theatre. I watched the picture as if in a trance, and could not leave my seat when the showing was over. I stayed on to see it through a second time. When I left the theatre I felt that I would have to come back to it to absorb every detail of Gouzenko's drama. I saw it for a third time days later.

Passing before me on the screen was a band of ruthless Soviet agents so typical of those who surrounded me in New York that I shuddered with fright. They were cut of the same NKVD cloth of which the killers of my husband, the destroyers of my son and my own persecutors were made.

The iron curtain behind which Gouzenko worked in the Soviet embassy while he was plotting his heroic and daring escape seemed to be pressing against me.

But even closer to my plight was Gouzenko's desperate attempt to make his situation understood by the Canadians about him. How was it possible for Americans living in freedom to be so deaf and dumb to the cry for freedom within our hearts? That Gouzenko could not find a responsive ear among the Canadian authorities was crushing.

BERNADOTTE'S SUCCESSOR — Leaning forward expectantly, Dr. Ralph Bunche (center), successor to the assassinated Count Bernadotte, listens to a question at a press conference at U. N. headquarters in Paris. He is interim United Nations mediator for Palestine pending the appointment of a permanent appointee to take the place of the late Swedish nobleman. Sitting on either side of him during the interview are interpreters.

And when he went to the newspaper office and the editors there could not even comprehend his frantic fears, thinking that he was slightly demented, I was appalled at the gulf separating me from the American people.

When I returned to the apartment, Zoya Porojniakov asked me where I had been all afternoon. As nonchalantly as possible I remarked that I had gone to the school to wind up an accumulation of work on a day when I would not be interrupted. But I was eyed with suspicion

The surveillance over me reached a point when Porojniakov, the consulate secretary, would sneak into my room while I was in the bathroom to pick up any incriminating paper which I might have left for a moment lying around. Of course, no such papers ever existed.

Then one day he bluntly told me, after many vexatious proddings on the subject

"You don't ever get any mail and you don't write any letters. It's very suspicious. What's the matter with you? Why don't you write to anyone?"

Not to be pestered any longer and to avert all suspicion of my designs, I penned a brief letter to a family of four, including their children, Vova Yurik, Mischa and Valia, who had befriended my son in Moscow. I wrote them of my hope to see them soon, of my walks with them in the fields which I expected to repeat, and of my homesickness for our "beloved motherland." I added that I would notify them of the date of my arrival.

The bait worked. I left the letter unsealed in my room, as if I had neglected to mail it in the midst of my preparations for our departure. After a while the letter vanished.

I began to seek feverishly ways and means of escaping to freedom, and proceeded to make purchases of articles which were not to be had in Moscow. This also served to divert suspicion from me. And I did not even suspect myself that my colleagues, Mikhail Samarin and his wife, were at the same time planning their own escape.

I had come to know the Samarins who had preceded me to the United States, and became attached to them and their children. But we had never dared to discuss political or social questions, let alone to share such deep secrets in which our lives were at stake as our designs to remain in America.

I felt that Samarin was under special observation following an outburst which I witnessed. He was studying English and had a collection of dictionaries in our school which he had neatly tied into a bundle.

When he came to pick it up, he found that the package had been broken, the books obviously gone over for hidden messages, and the whole parcel so loosely re-tied that he flew into a rage, threw the books on the floor, shouting: "Swine!"

We knew that it was the work of Orlova. I was trembling. Samarin was pale as death. The director Andreyenko tried to calm him.

About this time, in the absence of Zoya Porojniakov who was away in the country, a Soviet official from Cuba took up temporary quarters in our apartment with his wife and child. To show her a little of New York, I walked over with the woman and her girl baby to Riverside Drive. We sat down on a bench facing the Hudson River, admiring the scenery and talking about our shopping experiences.

Suddenly I became aware of a middle-aged man sitting on the bench near us and listening. Our conversation was trivial and was not particularly interesting. The man spoke up in Russian:

"What beautiful Russian speech. I haven't heard anything like it in a long time."

We did not respond and left shortly afterwards. But I looked him over and decided that he was a person without evil intentions. "Perhaps this man can help me?" it flashed through my mind. I decided to return to the same spot the following evening.

PAGE EIGHT MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1948

As one young housewife views it: "A budget tells us what we can't afford but doesn't keep us from buying it."

This is National Letter-Writing week — almost at an end, in fact — so why not get out a sheet of paper, pen and ink, and write the letter that some relative or friend has been looking for so long?

Tonight Brings Democratic Rally

TONIGHT it is the Democrats who get into action with a public meeting in John Simpson junior high school auditorium, presenting Senator Scott W. Lucas, of Illinois, as the principal speaker.

Last Friday evening it was the Republicans who held sway in the same auditorium, which is conveniently located for such gatherings.

Tonight various speakers will present national, state and local issues and introduce Democratic candidates for county offices.

School buildings, being for educational purposes, are quite properly made available for use by representatives of both political parties during the progress of a campaign, as the education of voters is an important part in the processes of self government.

Both parties have established campaign headquarters in the traditional manner and it may be that the next couple of weeks will bring an increase in enthusiasm among prospective voters, replacing a somewhat lethargic attitude that has thus far been observed.

Suggestion is that all eligible voters take advantage of opportunities between now and election day to become informed as fully as possible on all issues being discussed in the campaign, and to inform themselves as to the relative merits of state, district and county candidates, so as to be able to express intelligent preference when the time comes to mark ballots.

Studying County's Child Care Needs

LIKE MANY other matters of public business, few people other than those directly concerned have paid much attention to the operation of Richland county's children's home —taking it for granted that everything was running along smoothly and that money was being made available to meet all needs.

But that hasn't been the case, as is revealed in the survey recently made by experienced representatives of the state department of public welfare. Lack of funds has been the chief obstacle to what is deemed adequate child care—and it is a good thing that this has been brought to public notice, so that some effective co-ordinated program for improvement can be developed and carried through.

Organization of the Richland County Child Welfare Council by a group of interested citizens is a commendable move as it will serve to spread understanding of this subject beyond the board of county commissioners and appointed members of the County Child Welfare board.

There should be greater understanding, for instance, of the inclination of some parents to throw upon the county the burden of responsibility for the care of their children, and that divorce, separation, desertion or remarriage of one or both parents accounts for 71 of the 129 children being cared for by the county, either in the children's home or elsewhere.

When it is taken into account that these children range in age all the way from infancy to 19 years, with wide variation in physical and mental condition, the seriousness of problems involved can be better understood by those who do not come into direct contact with operations of the home or the difficulties encountered in finding suitable boarding homes for the overflow beyond capacity of the present inadequate institution.

It seems quite likely that, with cooperative effort of the county commissioners, the County Welfare board and the Child Welfare Council, a constructive program of betterment will be worked out and funds provided to proceed with it.

Problem of 'Doubled Up' Families

STRONG ARGUMENT for relief of the housing shortage is found in revelation by the census bureau that more than three million families in the United States are "doubled up" — that is, living with relatives, mostly with parents or in-laws.

This represents approximately one out of every twelve American families, and when the disturbing factors of such a situation, as related to each of the families involved, are considered, the high rate of divorce, as well as appearance of marital discord, can be better understood.

It is found that in more than two out of five cases of "doubling up" the husband is a veteran who has been unable to find a place to live at rental he could afford to pay, or a property priced within his reach.

It is also noted that youth is a predominant characteristic in "doubled up" families, median age of the husband being 29 years and that of the wife about 26 years. Almost 27 per cent of the husbands were under 25 and an aggregate of over 70 per cent were under 35.

Urgent need for more dwelling units is very generally recognized, but how this need is to be met at present inflated building costs is a problem that still awaits solution.

Makers of Russia's Constitution

RUSSIA has a constitution just as the United States does, and one with many liberal features. A key to the difference may be found in the fortunes of its architects.

When it was adopted in 1936, Pravda, the government official newspaper, ran pictures of the eight men who had most to do with the new constitution. In 1946 at the tenth anniversary celebration, Pravda ran a picture of the sole survivor, Stalin. Another of the founders, Kalinin, had died a natural death. The others had been shot.

What Some Other People Are Saying

PRESIDENT JAMES B. CONANT of Harvard University: "I believe that a 10-year hitch in a national militia setup for young men would provide all the troops the United States needs . . . In planning for the future of the United States we must assume a divided world for a long time to come."

* * *

INTERIOR MINISTER MARIO SCELBA: "The scheduled strikes of Italian government workers is part of a communist attempt to overthrow the constitutional government . . . The last ounce of government power will be used to prevent a Red seizure of the country."

* * *

PRESIDENT TRUMAN: "Gov. Dewey is a recent 'me too' convert to the doctrine of bi-partisan unity on foreign policy."

Merit Raises In Wages

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — Can an employer grant a merit raise to an employe without consent of the union representing his workers?

There may be confusion over that question because of action on it by the U. S. Supreme Court this week.

This will explain what can and can't be done under government law. The information here is from the National Labor Relations Board.

To understand it, go back a bit.

A company in Tennessee had been signing a contract every year with a union of its employes. The contract covered rates of pay.

But the company—in addition to the regular, agreed-upon pay rate given all the employes—gave some of them higher pay in the form of merit raises.

In 1946, when it came time to bargain with the employer about a new contract, the union said:

It wanted to bargain not only about the regular pay scale but also about any merit raises the employer might wish to give to some of the employes.

(The labor law says an employer must bargain with a union about wages. But it doesn't say anything about the kind of wages, whether regular rates of pay or merit raises.)

The company refused to bargain. It said the law covered regular rates of pay but did not cover merit raises. The union then complained to the NLRB that the employer was unfair.

(The NLRB is the government agency which sees that the law is carried out and interprets the law when any question about its meaning arises.)

The NLRB said the boss was wrong. It said merit raises are wages and an employer must bargain about them.

(The law doesn't say an employer must agree to what a union wants, when it bargains. But at least he must bargain about wages.)

In this case the company thought the NLRB was wrong and appealed to the U. S. circuit court of appeals to overrule the NLRB. But the court upheld the NLRB.

The company then took its last step and appealed to the U. S. supreme court to overrule the circuit court and the NLRB. This week the Supreme court refused to review—or consider changing—the circuit court's ruling.

So the NLRB ruling stands now for all employers covered by the federal labor law. To repeat: An employer must bargain on merit raises with the union representing his employes, if the union wants to.

Questions Answered.

BUT at this point other questions arise. This is a roundup of questions and answers, with the answers given by the NLRB.

Q. Can an employer now continue to grant merit increases to his employes if he doesn't have anything about that in his union contract?

A. Yes. Unless an employer has a contract covering merit raises or unless the union wants to bargain about them, he can continue to grant merit increases.

(This is important to remember since some employers may think, because of the NLRB ruling in the case above, that they no longer can grant merit increases under any circumstance.)

Q. But what of a case where an employer bargains with a union over merit raises and the bargaining breaks down? Can he then, with the bargaining suspended, go ahead and grant merit increases?

A. Yes, provided he doesn't do it to try to smash the union by winning workers away from it. Of course, if he did grant merit raises after bargaining broke down, the union might complain to the NLRB that he was doing it to break the union.

Q. Suppose a union represents only a majority of the employes in a place, say only 51 out of 100. Can an employer give the non-union workers merit raises?

A. Yes, as he's free to give his union workers raises—provided he has no union contract covering merit raises. But once he signs such a contract, anything in that contract that applies to his union workers applies to his non-union workers, too. Why?

Because when a union represents only a majority of workers in a plant, its bargaining covers all the employes, union and non-union alike.

Q. But suppose there's no contract covering merit raises and the boss hands out some. Can the union ask him for a list of those who got the merit raises?

A. Yes. The NLRB says the boss must supply such a list, even though he has done no bargaining and has no contract covering merit raises.

Two Disturbing Fears

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — The thing that seems to disturb our people most these days is the fear of another war, what President Truman recently called the No. 1 fear, No. 2 being the fear of another depression.

This war fear enters very much into the political psychology today in the opinion of Democratic scouts who have sounded out the people here and there. The natural instinct, of course, is to blame the party in power. In short, it's a factor that helps the Republicans.

Which brings us to the mission to Russia that President Truman had planned for Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, then dropped.

Politics being what it is, this proposed gesture had its political motive, being in part an eleventh-hour effort to make the Democratic party the peace party to assuage the anxieties of the voters.

But, beyond and above that, it envisaged a bold move to break the diplomatic impasse between the world's two greatest powers which has been created gradually, step by step, until now it threatens the peace of the whole world which is much more important than an election.

It was sound in conception. It represented an attempt to have people speak to people over the heads of diplomats and generals, our people speaking through our highest judicial officer and a proven skillful negotiator, as well, to the Russian people through Joseph Stalin.

It was an effort to break through the old diplomatic system which now has become even more rigid and obtuse through addition of generals.

Hands Tied By System.

A SECRETARY of state, whoever he is, becomes the prisoner of this diplomatic system, as, in turn, does the President whom he serves. They rely on a network of diplomatic officers throughout the world who are trained in the old manner, see events wherever they are in the old-fashioned pre-atomic way, and get out their rule books and follow protocol.

Some of our diplomatic officers, our look-outs, really never get to know the country and the people to whom they are assigned, as we have learned to our dismay in the past.

The same is true of diplomats here from other nations. Not all diplomats, either, of whatever country, are distinguished for bold or original thinking.

President Roosevelt broke through this crust not only by developing new, independent sources of information here and there in the world, but also by sending out his own trusted confidential emissaries, of whom Harry L. Hopkins was perhaps the outstanding example, to get the facts and give him the real picture.

The Vinson mission was in that pattern.

President Truman's mistake was not in the idea, which was excellent, but in failing to go through with it. When he backed down he became once more the disillusioned prisoner of the system.

The diplomats and generals bluffed him out of a project that would have appealed to people everywhere, including our own, and which, if the other nations in our orbit had been notified properly in advance, would have met the necessary old-fashioned diplomatic requirements.

So he becomes guilty of "ineptitude" and politically he plays right into the hands of the opposition.

President Truman's abandoned irea hit right at the root of the problem in the world today. It would have removed concentration on Berlin by taking up the whole field of differences between the two nations of which Berlin is only one.

As Cerf Tells It

A worried lady in Scituate entered a notions store and purchased two packages of invisible hairpins. As she paid for them, she asked, "Are you absolutely certain these hairpins are invisible." "Lady, I'll tell you how invisible they are," the clerk assured her. "I've sold four dollars' worth of those pins this morning, and we've been out of them for three weeks.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Frank Discussion of Issues Desirable

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Election year always brings grey hairs and stomach ulcers to newspaper columnists. It is a season when, no matter what you say, one side or the other jumps on you; when editors get sore, blue-pencil columns or throw you out of the paper.

Most newspapers — and their readers — are quite happy to have you turn the spotlight on every act and habit of the President of the United States during every minute of his term of office.

He is considered fair game, with a year-round open season. And the result is that the American public now knows what kind of garters Mr. Truman wears, how much money he has saved in office, his favorite cuss-words, what kind of poker he plays, and how many shots he fired as an artillery captain in World War I. In fact, there is almost nothing—good or bad—that we don't know about him.

But, as election time rolls round, you will note that a kindly generous film diffuses most of the newspaper spotlights that focus upon Truman's rival, Governor Dewey. The tendency is to give him kid-glove consideration.

Dewey Sure To Win.

THERE are two reasons for this:

1. About 75 per cent of the newspapers have announced for Dewey.

2. Dewey is certain to win, and it's only natural to want to be on the side of the winner.

My own feelings about Dewey have been a matter of public record for a long time. As early as October 1946, when most Republicans were claiming he could never overcome the GOP jinx of having been defeated once, I categorically predicted that he would be the next Republican nominee. I also appraised him, on the eve of the Philadelphia convention, as the ablest of all the Republican candidates next to Governor Warren.

I also predicted in May 1948 that Harry Truman would not carry one state north of the Mason-Dixon line and would lose two states below it. (Since then I have revised his southern loss downward to four.)

It also happens that I like Dewey. (Most news reporters don't.) My wife says it's because we have a common bond—cows. Both of us try to run dairy farms, and for two years I used to rib Dewey about the high bacteria count of his milk. Now my cows have bangs disease and he can rib me.

It also happens that Harry Truman doesn't like me. This is no secret to anyone. He has expressed his ill-will both privately, in many cabinet meetings, and publicly in press conferences in vigorous, vitriolic language.

Truman's Uphill Fight.

NEVERTHELESS, I can't help but admire the spunky uphill fight Truman is putting up; and I can't help but think also that the American public has a right to know the issues on the Republican side much more fully than it is getting them today.

Election landslides can be dangerous. I have always thought that the country might have been better off if Franklin Roosevelt had not won by such tremendous landslides in 1936 and 1940. It made his administration too confident, too inclined to ride roughshod over the opposition.

Furthermore, the American public should be like the smart lawyer who collects his fee when his client's tears are hot. Before a law-suit—or an election—a client or a candidate is much more amenable to paying for his victory.

So this is the time for voters to collect their election promises—not after November 2. This is also the time for them to find out exactly what the issues are and what the candidates are like.

We already know pretty much all there is to know about Harry Truman. We know that he is inept, warm-hearted, impulsive, sincere, courageous, human, likeable, a poor picker of men, inclined to lose his temper, shoots from the hip, has a fine set of principles, but is tragically inefficient at carrying them out.

Dewey's Unknown Record.

WE ALSO know that Dewey is cool, calculating, careful, highly efficient, has an excellent record in New York, a temper like Truman's, though he's learned to keep it under control; is vain, and for that reason will take great pride in making a good record as president of the United States.

For instance, a great many people are asking what Dewey's war record is. Dewey was not governor of New York or even district attorney when war broke out with Japan. But for some strange reason you will find not one word in the press about his record.

I for one do not consider it necessary for a man to have served in the war to become president. Perhaps we have placed too much emphasis on the idea that a candidate must be a veteran before he can hold public office. But I do think it's important that the public have a right to know what the record is, and if you ask the head of Governor Dewey's draft board, he will tell you that the record is confidential.

Furthermore, it's important that the public know who the big contributors are on both sides, that they understand what big business expects to get out of this election, and that they force a full discussion on the basis of issues.

Especially, it's important for the public to scrutinize the candidates for Congress and pick a good Congress.

Dewey is sure to be elected, and I predict he will be a first-rate president. But the American people, including Republican leaders themselves, can help make him a better president by forcing all the issues into the open now, by collecting their pledges while the candidates' tears are hot.

In future columns I shall attempt to discuss some of these facts and issues. And I predict that, by the time I'm finished, both sides will be sore as blazes and my editors ready to chuck me out of the paper.

Assignment: America

Placing the 'Displaced'

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — Sometime next week, the first boatload of European war refugees to be brought here under the new Displaced Persons Act will set sail from Bremerhaven, Germany, for the United States of America.

Barring last-minute changes in the passenger list, it will carry 826 individuals who have been homeless for varying periods stretching back onto the early thirties when Hitler started on his mad rampage.

For most of them, latter-day life has consisted of one concentration camp after another and, fintally one D.P. camp after another.

Some of the children will be out from behind barbed wire for the first time since their birth!

Domestically speaking, the great question during debate over the D.P. bill on Capitol Hill was whether or not America could and would absorb such war-impoverished immigrants without damage to the nation's post-war economy.

No matter how much eloquence is expended on the subject, the latter half of that question still must await the test. But no longer is there any doubt about the first half of the issue—the nation's willingness to try.

All that is dequired to dispel any lingering doubt on that score is to visit the Displaced Persons Commission office here in downtown Washington—and take one look at the stack of mail which the staff is daily laboring to answer.

Although the law itself is comparatively new, acting commission chairman Harry N. Rosenfield estimates the office already has received more than 18,000 requests for displaced persons.

They have come from both organizations and individuals, and the requests currently are arriving at the rate of approximately 300 every day.

Delays and Disappointments

FOR MANY obvious reasons, a great percentage of the requests are doomed to meet with delay if not final disappointment. In the first place, the law which President Truman attacked as inadequate and discriminatory, provides only for the entry of 205,000 homeless Europeans within the next two years.

In addition, the commission bound to a total operating budget of two million dollars, can only hope to bring some 8,000 to 9,000 to this country by the end of this year, according to Commissioner Ugo Carusi—who now is in Europe, setting up the stage for the first shipload.

Also, there are certain understandably strict rules with which both sponsor and immigrant must comply. No. D. P.'s brought here can displace someone else in any job. All must be paid the prevailing wage rate, to avoid undercutting living standards.

They must be provided with safe and sanitary housing, must be guaranteed against even eventually becoming public charges and must be provided with cross-country transport from their point of entry.

Nevertheless, despite all those conditions, Rosenfield says that the acceptable requests now on hand already outnumber the top estimates on those who can be brought in during the rest of the year.

Thumbing through the requests, the first thing you note is their absolute "melting pot" quality.

Literally, in either sponsor or proposed immigrant or both, they represent every nationality, race, creed and religion of the affected areas.

Moreover, the requests are from and for people varying from shoemakers to bankers, from doctors to day laborers. Somewhere in that mammoth stack of correspondence are requests for cooks, clerks, carpenters, Clergymen, dressmakers, domestics, farmers, furriers, mechanics, plumbers, tailors, truck-drivers, stone-cutters, salesmen, stenographers and so on down the line.

Farmer's Diary

'A Man Called White'

By CALVIN A. BYERS

FORGET that the man is a Negro, although his skin is white, his mustache "champagne" color, his eyes blue? He will not let you. He says, "I was glad I was not one of those whose story is in the history of the world, a record of bloodshed, rapine and pillage. I was glad my mind and spirit were part of the races that had not fully awakened, and who therefore had still before them the opportunity to write a record of virtue as a memorandum to Armageddon. . . . It was all just a feeling then, inarticulate and melancholy, yet reassuring in the way that death and sleep are reassuring, and I have clung to it now for nearly half a century."

His father was a postal employe, for 43 years, in Atlanta, Georgia. His mother was a teacher. Their passion for learning and for neatness made their home outstanding for white paint, white picket fence, spic-and-span lawn and flowers abloom. "It was the violent resentment against a Negro family neater than themselves that set the pattern of our lives," says Walter White. During a race riot when he was 13 years old, a mob nearly burned their home. Hiding, gun in hand, he helped his father prepare to shoot down the first man who invaded their premises . . . "that's where that nigger mail carrier lives, it's too nice for a nigger, let's burn it down," came the shout.

A volley of shots from elsewhere diverted the mob and scattered them. But the boy whose skin was as white as those coming after him—knew, from that day on, that he was always to be a Negro, by choice.

In my opinion, the teachings of a father, whose devout Christian training was incidental to their daily work together on the mail cart, are the finest part of this record. "Invariably but amicably Father and I would take the opposite sides of questions we discussed . . . by accident years later I learned that Father did this deliberately to spur me to study and read to substantiate my arguments."

"God is omnipotent," Walter's father said, "but he chooses to work through human instruments like you and me and every other human being on earth. Never forget that he made your brain and heart to work His will.

Perhaps right there is the strong meat of this autobiography—the most important book on race relations written by an American in this generation, a classic in its field.—(Viking Press. $3.75).

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

THE NEWS is more discouraging every day . . . It appears now that with eight presidential candidates none really is satisfactory to Harold Ickes or John L. Lewis.

Under the circumstances the decent thing to do is to recall the delegates to all conventions and start over . . . Perhaps submitting a few names in advance to Mr. Ickes and Mr. Lewis.

* * *

Otherwise these two normally jolly boys will be forced to carry out their intention of voting for the wrong men . . . Each has a wrong man of his own selection.

The only difference is that Mr. Ickes personally inspected his wrong man and Mr. Lewis is content to go along on his lesser-of-two-evils boy without personal contact.

* * *

But we are making some progress in our labor-management relations . . . The Supreme court has just ruled that a worker cannot be given a wage increase for merit without his permission.

Reports Due By the 10th

A new regulation concerning veterans in training under provisions of the Servicemen's Readjustment act makes it imperative that trainees submit their reports by the 10th of each month, G. D. Weidemaier, manager of the Mansfield Veterans Administration office, announced today.

Failure to submit the monthly reports on time will result in suspension of subsistence payments, Weidemaier said. The new regulation goes into effect Nov. 1.

The October monthly report of training must be submitted by Nov. 10 to avoid a cut-off of the subsistence allowance. The report is VA form 7-1905C.

Veterans affected by the new regulation are those in on-the-job training projects, in flight training, and those enrolled in business and trade schools.

Navy Enlists Six Area Men

Six area men have enlisted in the regular Navy, the U. S. Navy Recruiting office announced today.

Robert E. Belsterli, Shelby; Kermitt C. Walcutt, Sycamore; Walter K. Streib, Lexington, and Elmer L. Hughes, Mt. Vernon, signed up for three-year hitches.

Donald E. Rogers, Galion, and Jack L. Malaby, Crestline, enlisted for one year.

All six of the new enlistees have been sent to the Navy Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill., for recruit training.

SUV Officers To Be Installed

New officers of McLaughlin Camp No. 12, Sons of Union Veterans, will be installed at a meeting to be held Nov. 1, C. F. English of Newark will be the installing officer. The orders allied to the G. A. R. will be invited to attend the meeting.

The officers who were recently elected, include Clyde V. Neff, commander; Garland Markley, senior vice - commander; R. H. Stevens, junior vice - commander; Earl McFarland, secretary; L. A. Capwell, treasurer; Charles Dille, chaplain; Charles Cromer, guide; W. T. Myers, color bearer, and Silas Leedy, guard.

Dille, Cromer and V. E. Sherman were elected to serve on the Camp Council.

WHIPS LEUKEMIA—Two-year-old Nancy Love (right) one of the few victims on record who have apparently recovered from leukemia, plays with her sister, Cherlyn (left) and mother, Mrs. E. L. Love jr., at Steubenville, O. (Oct. 13). A new drug, aminopterin, was used to treat the girl at Ohio State's University hospital. She recovered from siege of pneumonia, yellow jaundice and other infections during her treatment. Doctors say they will know within five years whether her recovery is permanent.

Urges Building Owners Get Set Now For Tougher Times

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Building owners and managers were advised today to seek protection against deflation and readjustment.

J. Clydesdale Cushman of New York, president of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers, listed the points in his report to the opening session of the association's two-day convention here.

Cushman warned:

"Building construction costs are out of line with potential earnings; replacement costs are in many instances out of line with depreciation reserves; wages bear no relation to individual performance; seekers of political office engaged in double talk about correcting symptoms, but are strangely reluctant to attack the cause.

"This is the time for building owners to get out of debt and to avoid speculative commitments.

"We can make the best use of current earnings by applying them where they will do the most good, in the rehabilitation and modernization of our buildings, in the improvement in the character of occupancy, and in the strengthening of the financial structures of our properties.

County's 1948 Christmas Seals Arrive

The 1948 Christmas seals, which will go on sale Nov. 22, have arrived at seal sale headquarters in the Walpark building, the Richland County Tuberculosis association announced today.

This year's seal features a small blond boy in red pajamas, sitting on the floor, hands clasped about his knees, and gazing into a blazing fireplace in a hope of catching a glimpse of Santa Claus coming down the chimney.

The seal was designed by Barry Bart, a South Kent, Conn., artist, who painted the picture after he had watched his young nephew hurry silently downstairs one Christmas eve and set up his vigil near the fireplace.

Proceeds for the sale of seals will be used for the 1949 tuberculosis control program, including the diagnostic chest clinic held each month at the health department in the city building.

P-TA Sponsors School Safety Drive In New London

NEW LONDON — Motorists driving past the school in the morning, at noon or at dismissal time are apt to see the School Safety Patrol in action. The Safety Patrol is a Parent-Teachers Association sponsored pupil organization which functions for the purpose of seeing that school children get safely across the street during rush hours.

By crossing the street at the crosswalk under the protection of the Patrol in front of the school, pupils can go directly to the main intersection of the village without crossing any other streets. After crossing at the stop light downtown student traffic will have fanned out in so many directions that the accident hazard due to conjested pupil traffic will be considerably reduced.

Parents are requested to send their elementary children to school so that they may have the advantage of the Safety Patrol. The Patrol is on duty from 8:20 a. m. and 12:20 at noon until school takes up as well as at dismissal times.

The Auto Club at Norwalk has given the school hats, all weather coats, Sam Brown belts and badges for the use of Patrol members. Fifth and sixth grade pupils are serving on the Patrol.

How to Celebrate Your Wedding Anniversary

The "Dutch" Millers celebrated their Tin Wedding Anniversary Saturday. Everything had to be tin. Folks even ate off tin plates, and drank coffee out of tin cups.

When it was time to drink a toast to the "bride and groom," out came the final touch: ice cold beer in cans. And come the Millers' 15th anniversary (Glass) I expect we'll be toasting them with sparkling beer in bottles!

And I couldn't help thinking that there was a lesson for married folks in the way Dutch and his missus have got along together—in their policy of live-and-let-live, with never a criticism of each other's differences in taste.

From where I sit, it's due to two things: Temperance—as that moderate preference for beer suggests, and Tolerance—for their own differences of opinion—and for the tastes of others, whether applied to beer, to politics, or how to celebrate an anniversary.

Salads Need No Longer Be 'Just Leftovers'

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
(AP Food Editor)

No one was more surprised than I to see on a recent survey made among homemakers, that more recipes for salads would be welcomed. I always have believed that salads were concocted on the spur of the moment out of what was in the refrigerator without definite recipes.

Now I'm wondering whether this great interest in salad recipes isn't occasioned by the fact that mothers of families have been learning—through food columns—that good nutrition demands they feed their families several kinds of fruits and vegetables every day . . . preferably some of them raw. In an attempt to get husbands and youngsters to eat and like salads they've probably found they could stand a little help.

A friend of mine—a man who reads the food columns—asked me once whether nutritionists and home economists and food editors had solemnly pledged themselves to mention a "tossed green salad" every time they wrote a piece! I hastened to assure him that I liked salad greens and missed them when I didn't have them—but there was no reason why they should appear alone. Moreover, salads—whatever their kind—do not always have to accompany the main dish.

A salad can come at the beginning of the meal. California appetizer style. Avocado combinations, for instance, are always delicious starters. One of these starter salads I particularly like is made of avocado, orange and watercress with French dressing. Cole slaw makes a good appetizer, too, when it's coupled with celery and carrot sticks, black or green olives, fennel, or what you will.

One of the reasons why I think people who come to my house always like the salads is that I serve them with some fanfare. There are various ways you can do this. Mixing the dressing right there in front of everyone with the help of interesting bottles of herbs or to use attractive salad bowls and servers.

Pictured here is a Frozen Fruit Salad beloved by equally ladies of bridge-luncheon and current events groups. And when it comes to a family or company dinner it doubles delightfully for dessert. Don't let anyone (gourmet or otherwise) tell you it's woman's tearoom food—I've seen men lap it up.

Frozen Cream Cheese and Fruit Salad

Ingredients: 1 three-ounce package cream cheese, 3 tablespoons mayonnaise, 1 cup canned sweet cherries, ½ cup maraschino cherries, 1 cup orange membrane-free orange sections, 1 cup sliced walnuts, 1 cup crushed pineapple (drained), 1 cup whipping cream. Method: Allow cream cheese to stand at room temperature to soften; cream with mayonnaise. Cut sweet cherries and maraschino cherries in halves. Cut orange sections in thirds. Combine cream cheese mixture with cherries, orange, sliced walnuts and pineapple. Whip cream and fold into fruit mixture. Pour into 12 custard cups, 5-ounce size. Set cups in freezing compartment of refrigerator for about 3 hours or until frozen. When salad is frozen remove from refrigerator and unmold by slipping a small knife around salad. Serve on salad greens.

Black Dress Second To Gray For Fall

The little black dress, classic of well-dressed women the world over, is taking second place this fall to the good gray dress.

Gray is the high fashion color of the season, ranging in tone from deep charcoal through elephant, smoke and caviar gray to delicate pearl gray tints.

Manufacturers and merchants report that in many cases charcoal gray is outselling black in dressy afternoon frocks and in the beloved basic dresses which women dress up or down with jewelry and accessories.

Every top designer in New York has featured a version of smoke or elephant gray in the fall collections. It has a new suave look in keeping with the restrained Victorian flavor of the mode. Combined with a contrasting color such as yellow or chartreuse, it is highly effective.

You'll be seeing the new grays in tailored wool suits and dresses, in soft afternoon crepes and in simple basic frocks. You'll find it a wonderful background tone for highlighting with spots of vivid color. With it you may wear the new gunmetal kid shoes, belt or bag, if you like

WHILE a disruptive force still threatens the desired determination to put over major objectives and possible innovations or techniques for improving old and established foundations, yet the mentality is pitched to new flashes of genius, fresh skills or possibly some sort of unique approach. These very vital annoyances and situations handled unemotionally may break down enmity. Daring originality, invention, or spark of dynamic eccentricity, might bring about exciting and spectacular denouements.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, are encouraged to keep persistent and determined adherence to their original ideas on wild invention, of a seeming "flash in the pan" in which little encouragement is to be expected from influential or other sources. Audacity, belief in one's own ingenuity and unique talents, are bound to win in the long run, and probably culminate on a novel or sensational mark of approval or reward. Dare to be original, in untied fields of discovery, invention, science or absolutely strange avenues for exploration. So-called "eccentricities of genius" may find ultimate recognition and perhaps singular honor.

A child born on this day should be bounteously blessed with ideas, with originality, rare skills and inventive genius.

FABulously better for all your family wash

FAB
SUPER-WETTING ACTION

NEW INGREDIENT GETS WHITE WASH WHITER ...COLORS BRIGHTER!

FAB contains a *fab*ulous new ingredient that gets white wash whiter, colors brighter. Besides, FAB leaves no soap scum to "gray" or "yellow" white wash or dull colors . . . even in hardest water. And FAB removes soap scum left in clothes by previous soap washings.

FABULOUS SUDS, even in hardest water. Two washing machines were filled with hardest water. One cup of FAB made a washer brimful of suds. One cup of soap made almost no suds!

washes everything
FASTER, CLEANER, WHITER, BRIGHTER than any soap...in hardest water!

Colgate-Palmolive-Peet brings you this fabulous wonder-worker for all family wash...Washes even grimiest overalls cleaner faster!

No soap scum...even in hardest water! Even grimiest overalls and play clothes get cleaner faster with FAB. There's no soap scum, even in hardest water. Clothes get whiter, cleaner!

FAB WASHES CLOTHES CLEANER THAN ANY SOAP!

FAB with Super-Wetting Action instantly penetrates materials; pushes out dirt. Washes grimiest overalls cleaner faster than soap! No "graying" soap scum. Wash is whiter, cleaner!

FAB WASHES CHEAPER ...IN HARDEST WATER!

Laboratory tests prove that cup for cup, in hard water, FAB washes up to twice as much family wash as soap. All of FAB washes ...Nothing is wasted in soap scum!

FAB WASHES DISHES TWICE AS FAST!

No need to wipe dishes. Just wash with FAB, and rinse. NO soap scum to polish away. Even glassware sparkles! FAB slashes through grease as no soap can do!

What is Super-Wetting Action?

To see, drop a little ball of cotton thread into a glass of water. It floats; stays dry a long time. Drop another ball of thread into a glass of water and FAB. It sinks at once. This shows how FAB with Super-Wetting Action penetrates materials faster and more thoroughly.

Propaganda Against 'High Brass' Laid To Subversive Influences

NEW YORK — The hateful propaganda against "the high brass" and "the big brass" of the American Army and Navy which began almost on the dot of VE-Day — as soon as Russia was absolutely rescued from Hitler — was touched off and stimulated by the Communists. Many of them were planted as officers in the publicity and morale rackets of the service.

They concocted "morale" pamphlets and doodled diagrams to show that Roosevelt's union racketeers, for all their disgraceful record of strikes, malingering, loafing, whistle-jumping and overtime profiteering, had done as much to win the war as men who had been killed in action. These planted propagandists hatched "indoctrination" courses to disarm the real Americans, the fighters.

The propaganda against the "brass" roared up in the service publications where the communists and their shrinking friends were hiding out the war, who had sworn death to the Nazis but with the proviso that the neighbors' children should do the killing.

Editors who will take the trouble to look back will find also that it came in standard package-goods distributed by some of the syndicates from Washington and New York. There was a temptation, even to editors, to engage in applepolishing by appealing to the social bigotry of the majority by blackguarding the officers as a class and particularly generals and admirals.

There were 50 or 80 enlisted men for every officer and the temptation to propitiate them was proportionate. There had been a similar campaign in Italy after the first war. Officers were chased and mauled by hoodlums because they were officers. Train crews refused to budge until officers got off. Many fine Italian officers naturally threw in with fascism and they got hunk with the bums who had humihtated them.

USE CHEAP CLICHE

"Brass" is a cheap cliche affected by blackguards and fakers of journalism and the radio who cannot write and crib their paltry bromides from Fui-Pi-Yu's timestyle. It came out of the old British army and with some tarnish on it, at that. Their generals were brave, stately and imperious but slow and had little imagination.

Any attempt to redress the reputation of the American officers and especially of those above the rank of captain and lieutcommander, runs hard against the fact that Roosevelt, who cheapened and befouled every fine thing that he touched, immediately made rank cheap.

Bill Knudsen, a great manufacturer, was induced to accept the three-stars of a lieutenant-general, formerly reserved for really good commanders of American armies in war.

Nobody made fun of Mr. Knudsen but many who admired him felt sorry for him because he plainly felt ridiculous.

Thereafter, Roosevelt and his friends tossed out constellations of cheap stars. On winter mornings in town, bag-eyed, tired generals, a few months out of civilian clothes, lurched against sleepy enlisted men going to work. The buck-general, or brigadier, actually had less prestige here than a buck-sergeant had had in normal times.

Officers of the regular army had their own sentiments about this. A man put in years of patriotic soldiering, always loyal to the beautiful ideal and code of West Point. At 55 or so, he found himself still a colonel or lieutenant-colonel while the fellow hanging to a strap in the same bus wore one or two stars pinned on him only to permit him to out-rank other ex-civilians in financial or legal negotiations in the pentagon.

And, after victory in Europe, the wild campaign began against a "plot" of the "brass" to keep men in the service so that these officers keep their rank and perquisites. There was something to that but that wasn't all there was to it. Actually, it would have been wise to keep strong by maintaining the hard, efficient outfits which had just knocked out the toughest army in history. Instead, the clamor against the "brass" rose to a hymn of hate. Eisenhower was exempted, largely but not solely because he had been a handwashing subordinate to Roosevelt, who liked them obsequious. Patton, on the other hand, though not above a little of that, fell a victim of the conspiracy to infest our whole army of occupation with hateful naturalized immigrant Americans adorned

Council To Set Ward Boundaries

Special Meeting Scheduled Monday

A special meeting of city council has been called by Mayor Roy W. Vaughn for Monday night to consider legislation to make the recently-annexed South Boulevards a part of the Second ward.

The measure also will contain a provision making the Jefferson street allotment, which was annexed in April, 1946, a part of the Fifth ward.

The meeting was called after city and county election officials decided that council was the only body empowered to establish ward boundaries. The election board can set up precinct boundaries.

Passage of the boundary measure is assured since the placing of South Boulevards in Ward 2 is routine. South Boulevards became part of the city last month.

Mystery, however, surrounds the Jefferson street allotment annexation. This area is bounded by Longview avenue on the south, the Erie railroad on the west, Olivesburg road on the east and the first alley north of Jefferson street on the north.

ANNEXED IN 1946

The area was annexed in 1946 and the residents voted as part of Precinct A, of the Fifth ward in the 1946 and 1947 elections.

But council records show councilmen never approved legislation making that area part of the Fifth ward.

The election board apparently acted on the assumption that the small area was naturally a part of the Fifth ward, and proceeded to take the area in, for voting purposes, despite the fact that only council is empowered to take such action, city spokesmen said.

Having overlooked the legal formality of making the allotment part of the Fifth ward in 1946, council will take that action Monday.

Caught After Burglary

OSR Escaper Says He Robbed Station

A 17-year-old Mansfield reformatory inmate who confessed he burglarized a Shelby filling station early Wednesday, a few hours after his escape, was returned to the OSR today, pending disposition of the case by Shelby officials.

Shelby Police Chief LeRoy Coffey said the youth, Robert Dees, admitted the theft of $4 in change from the Rex Cook filling station upon apprehension by Officers William Hafer and Walter Benedict late Wednesday.

Chief Coffey said he "doubted if charges will be filed" against the youth.

OSR officials said Dees will be heard in institution court. He is subject to two years' additional penalty.

Received on Jan. 8, 1948 from Hamilton county, Dees was sentenced to serve one year to age for stealing. He escaped from the institution's dairy barn late Tuesday.

Reformatory officials also reported that two other escapers face two year penalties upon being returned to the institution after apprehension. The two are Noblin Henley, 22, returned yesterday from Toledo; and William Krotz, 18, returned yesterday from Grand Haven, Mich.

Henley was received on April 1 this year from Lucas county to serve one to 20 years for auto theft. Henley escaped from the farm on Aug. 26.

Krotz, serving two to 22 years for burglary and larceny, was received from Lucas county on April 15, and ran from the farm on Sept. 24.

School Cheerleader Becomes Queen

For the first and probably the only time during her years at Madison high school, Eleanor Stevens will not be cheer leading tonight when the school plays Loudonville in the homecoming game.

Eleanor will have a new job that night and one that comes only once in a girl's lifetime. She will be "Queen" and will have an honored seat on the reviewing stand instead of being down in the front line leading her classmates in loud and gusty "Rah-rahs."

Eleanor will be crowned in a ceremony just prior to the game with the Madison high band providing the musical background.

Eleanor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Stevens, Sixth avenue, is a vivacious brunet, full of enthusiasm for her school life and all the interesting things that have happened to her during her more than three years.

ACTIVE IN SCHOOL

A senior, who will be graduated next spring, Eleanor is president of the Thespians, the school's dramatic group, secretary of the Y-Teens, and is active in the Girls' Athletic association.

With her on the reviewing stand Friday night will be her four pretty attendants, all runners-up in the queen contest. They are Lydia Gross, Doris Baumberger, Mary Banks and Betty Riggenbach, all of whom have been active in school affairs.

Following Friday's game with Loudonville, Eleanor and her four "ladies-in-waiting" will lead the grand march for the homecoming dance to be held in the Medison gym. Bill Leicy's orchestra will provide the music. The dance, open to the public, is being sponsored by the Girls' Athletic association.

Cast Ballots At School

Residents of Madison township voting on the question of setting up a soil conservation district in Richland county, will cast their ballots at a single voting place—at Madison high school, County Agent C. N. McGrew said today. Residents of other townships will vote at the usual voting places.

Eligible to vote on the question are owners or operators of three acres of land outside of incorporated areas. The polls will be open from 1 to 9 p. m. on the day of voting, Oct. 22.

The proposal requires a 65 per cent majority. If it passes, there would follow an election of five directors to direct the program which probably would be set up by spring, McGrew said.

He urged landowners to vote on the question. Absentee ballots for those who will not be able to go to the polls on the voting date are available at his office, McGrew said, and four have been obtained thus far.

McGrew said his office was aiding in bringing the details of the voting before the public.

Landowners File Appeals

Two appeals were filed yesterday in common pleas court by landowners in the area of the proposed new section of State Route 13, around Mansfield airport. The landowners say that the amounts set up in the condemnation proceedings, filed by the county commissioners, are inadequate.

Arthur and Nellie Krueger said in their notice of appeal that the $1,000 for their property and $1,800 for damages to the residue was not sufficient and ask that the amount due them be determined according to law.

In an appeal, William and Treva Stewart said the $250 allowed them as damages was not sufficient and appealed to the court to set the amount.

Farmer Reports Sheep Missing

Sheriff's deputies today investigated the disappearance of a registered coarse wool ram from the Sam Hetler farm on Trimble road last night.

Deputies said the missing animal was reported today by Mrs. Arthur Statler, tenant on the farm, who said the ram was pastured in the orchard last night. Mrs. Statler believed the ram was stolen since there was no evidences that the animal broke out of the enclosure.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

A birthday is just another day to Dr. R. V. Myers, Mansfield physician today at his office. He was born in Shelby and came to Mansfield from Cleveland in 1912. He has been practicing here since that time.

Myers

Dr. Myers enjoys music and plays the violin when a small group of his friends get together for an evening of music. He was manager of the Mansfield symphony orchestra from 1930 to 1936. He also likes to travel and has made three trips to Europe and visited the Orient as well as touring this country. Dr. Myers is married and lives at 737 Park avenue west.

Another Mansfielder celebrating a birthday today is Earl J. Muth, 137 Grover street. Muth will celebrate his birthday by going out for dinner this evening.

He is a native of Mansfield and has spent his entire life here. He has been in the finance business since 1936. Muth is a member of the Elks club and belongs to St. Paul's Lutheran church. His hobbies are football, baseball and hunting. He is married.

Dr. O. H. Schettler, Mansfield physician, is also celebrating a birthday today.

REGISTER AGAIN—

Because of a mix-up in locations last Saturday, registrations will be taken again tomorrow for the children's art classes sponsored by the Mansfield Fine Arts Guild. The class will be held each Satday at 9 a. m. at the Prospect park pavilion during the fall, winter and spring seasons. About 30 registered last Saturday at the pavilion, but others, according to Thomas Zaugg, president, went to the Memorial building, last year's location. Mrs. Denzel Schaaf will supervise the classes this year.

INVITED TO GAME—

The Mansfield Senior high school band has been invited to go to Cleveland, Oct. 24 to play during the half-time period of the football game between the Cleveland Browns and the New York Yankees But J. Merton Holcombe, band director, said today the band has no means of transportation, so they are not at all sure that they'll get to go. However, Holcombe hopes to find enough cars to take band members to the game. They'll be given four and one-half minutes in which to perform at the half, Holcombe said.

One-Day Illness Fatal to Child

Thomas Russell Jacobs, nine-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Jacobs of Mansfield, R. D. 2, died at Mansfield General hospital yesterday following an illness of one day. The infant's death was caused by an intestinal obstruction, according to the attending physician.

The baby was born in Mansfield Jan. 11, 1948.

Surviving, in addition to his parents, are his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jacobs of Centerburg and Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hess of Mansfield; and his great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Jacobs and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Messmore of Centerburg, and Mrs. Lewis Lasch of Hartley, Del.

Rev. John C. Melchert, pastor of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church, will conduct funeral services at the Wapper funeral home at 10:30 a. m. Saturday. Burial will be in Windsor cemetery.

Unit Will Open On Tuesday

Norris, Jones To Head Force

With the announcement that the new No. 5 fire station on Marion avenue may be open Tuesday, Fire Chief L. J. Steele today announced the captains and firemen who will man the new fire house.

Captains Virgil Norris and Leo Jones and Firemen John Fleming, Wilson McKean, Donald Rose and Leonard Boebel will comprise the No. 5 station crew.

Norris, who has been on the force for 14 years, has been at the Central station for the past three years and 10 months. Jones, whose appointment as captain became effective today, has been on the force for 19 years.

OTHERS SHIFTED

At the same time, Chief Steele reported that Capt. C. O. Hall, a 20-year veteran, would be transferred from the No. 4 station to the Central station to replace Capt. Norris and that Capt. Ray Underwood, whose appointment also became effective today, would be transferred to No. 4 to replace Hall.

A Seagrave 750-gallons-per-minute pumper will be stationed at the new fire house which also has garage facilities for one fireman's car.

Chief Steele explained that with the absence of bus service to that point on Sunday and holidays, one crew member will pick up his men in his car and drive them to the station and keep the vehicle parked in the garage.

Construction of the fire station took approximately 10 months and cost the city approximately $6,000.

CIO Family Fuss Flares

The scrap broke out at a hearing being conducted into activities of the greater New York CIO council. Before it was over a number of noses were poked but nobody was hurt badly.

L. S. Buckmaster, head of the CIO Rubber Workers and chairman of the three-man hearing committee, said the melee wasn't "too bad." He called for the resumption of the hearing which this morning opened again.

In the midst of yesterday's blowtossing, which occurred in the office of the CIO's organization director, a woman member of the CIO council for New York City, Ruth Young, was heard to shout: "I won't stay in this room with you goons."

The story of what happened, pieced together from a number of accounts, is this:

The New York council was charged with deviating from CIO political policy (outright endorsement of President Truman) and with interfering with contract negotiations of several New York CIO unions.

Roseland Grange To Meet Tuesday

Members of Roseland grange No. 2668 will meet next Tuesday in Delano lodge hall, it was announced today by Olin F. Moore, secretary.

The meeting will begin promptly at 7:30 p. m. A health discussion will take up the lecture hour, illustrated by movies. Refreshments will be served after the meeting. All grange members are invited to this meeting, Moore said.

Pole Across Road Baffles Police

The origin of an unattached light pole, lying across U. S. Route 42 within the city limits, baffled police early today.

Officers said they discovered the pole shortly after 2 a. m. They said they were not certain whether the pole had fallen off a truck or whether it was the work of Halloween vandals.

Mrs. Gass Dies at 63

Mrs. Myrtle Mae Gass, 63, of 27½ East Second street, widow of Robert F. Gass, died suddenly last night at Mansfield General hospital.

She was born in Mansfield April 10, 1885, and spent her entire life here.

She was a member of Grace Gospel church.

Surviving are a daughter, Miss Murylnne Joan Gass of Mansfield; two sons, Robert Carl Gass of Toledo; and Roger William DeLancy of Mansfield; two sisters, Mrs. Jacob Weigand and Mrs. John Larcey, both of Mansfield; four brothers, Fred, Herman and Henry Diskosky of Mansfield, and Charles Diskosky of Gallipolis; and a grandson.

Rev. James E. Davey, pastor of Grace Gospel church, will conduct funeral services at the Wappner funeral home at 4 p. m. Saturday. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

Veterans should file their bonus claims as soon as possible, H. A. Vandervort, service officer of the Soldiers and Sailors Relief commission said today.

The local VA office at 38 Park avenue west will be glad to assist veterans in filling out their applications, he said.

If your claim number is under 400,000 and you haven't received your check, it must be due to some irregularity in filling out the application forms, Vandervort announced.

Fugitive Wins Ohio Freedom

CLEVELAND —(AP)— So far as municipal court is concerned, Frederick M. Fox, who escaped what he called the living death of a Florida road gang, is free today to look for the good job he wants, preferably in construction work here.

A fugitive charge against the 21-year-old Fox was discharged yesterday by Municipal Judge John E. Sweeney who said the former paratrooper had been held longer than the legal 30-day limit.

Fox's case went to Gov. Thomas J. Herbert, but no official action was taken to extradite him to Florida.

OHIO FORECAST: Sunny and warmer today, fair and not so cool tonight; Saturday increasing cloudiness followed by showers.

Miss Courtney Leaves $115,000; Church to Get $5,000 Bequest

The will of Miss Flosse A. Courtney, who died Oct. 6, provides that $5,000 go to the First United Presbyterian church, to be used toward the construction of a new church building. The will was admitted to probate yesterday. Probable value of her estate is placed at $60,000 in real estate and $55,000 in personal property.

Arthur E. Courtney, of Mansfield, her brother, and Mrs. Frederick Palm, of Shaker Heights her sister, were named executors of her estate. The will further provides that if a new church is not built within 15 years, the money go into the Anna Scattergood fund.

She said in her will that since her brother and Mrs. Palm were financially well situated, that a life interest in the remainder of the estate go to her sisters, Misses Grace and Katherine M. Courtney, of Mansfield.

Walter Lippmann

Vinson Affair Proves Truman Weak

The Vinson affair has been so embarrassing to the President, to the chief justice, to the secretary of state and to the nation, that for the three weeks that are left of this campaign, for the three months during which he will still be in office, Mr. Truman may not wish again to monkey with the buzz-saw.

But though this incident is closed, and though similar incidents may have been forestalled by the explosion of publicity, the conditions which produced it will persist until Governor Dewey is in the White House.

Mr Truman is unable, in plain words Mr. Truman does not know how, to be President. He does not know how to conduct foreign relations or how to be Commander-in-Chief. His absences from Washington during the campaign have merely disclosed what has since the beginning been the fact--that Mr. Truman does not govern, and has no control over, the diplomatic and military policy of the United States. But though he does not govern, he continues to reign. He still has the great powers of his office.

Unable to use them to form policy, he is reduced to meddling with policy. Unable to direct the subordinate officials who exercise his powers, he gives them a free hand most of the time. But every once in a while rebels and tries to circumvent them.

FEW ELECTED

These rebellions, of which a few have come to light and many more have come to light and many more have been nipped in the bud, reflect the fact that high policy in this administration has become seriously separated from the democratic process. Except for Senator Vandenberg, no one who plays a deciding role in the ultimate decisions has been elected to his office.

The "policy makers" are career diplomats, professional soldiers, and appointed officials, who with all their virtues, which are many, with all their competence, need the guidance of a President who is accountable to the people, and the discipline imposed by a Congress which debates the great decisions.

Experts, as the saying goes, should always be on tap but never on top. In the Truman administration, owing to Mr. Truman's incapacity, there is no one above the professionals and the experts. Consequently they, in a kind of artificial isolation from genuine contact with the people, have developed marked symptoms of the usual diseases--that is to say of a bureaucratic and of a militaristic excess of power and influence.

Mr. Truman's occasional meddling springs from a confused and ineffectual impulse to restore that civilian authority which has been lost because of his own inadequacy.

ELECTION IS CURE

Therefore, while to suppress Mr. Truman's propensity to meddle is necessary, and infinitely better not to suppress it, it is no cure for the condition. The cure is to elect a President who can govern his administration. For it is no triumph, it is only a case of making the best of a bad job, to have to feel that in the national interest the President must be subordinated to his secretary of state.

As a matter of fact the best that can be done under these conditions is to temporize for the next few months until an administration capable of concerted action is installed, organized, and made ready to deal positively with the great conflict over the destiny of Europe.

During this difficult and dangerous interval it is the duty of statesmen, here and among our friends abroad, to seek by mediation to postpone the showdown, and not prematurely to act on Mr. Churchill's advice "to bring matters to a head and make a final settlement."

We may be sure that matters will have to be brought to a head and a final settlement made in the fairly near future--that is to say during that limited period of time during which our monopoly of atomic weapons offsets the enormous superiority of the Russian infantry. But that time is now, not while the government of the United States is so dislocated.

That time will not come until our military power is again under the firm control of civilian statesmen--who know how to use it not to bring matters to a head by war but to a head which produces a settlement

Princess OK, Waiting Stork

LONDON—(U.P.)—Princess Elizabeth is in excellent condition for the birth of her baby expected in mid-November, two doctors reported Thursday after a two-hour examination.

The doctors were Sir John Weir, physician in ordinary to King George and Dr. William Gilliatt, president of the Royal College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists. They examined Elizabeth in Buckingham Palace.

Doctors Ask Inquiry Into 'Kick-Backs'

CLEVELAND—(AP)—A committee of the Cleveland Academy of Medicine has asked the Better Business bureau to investigate "kick-back" agreements which boost the patient's bill and bring certain doctors a share of money spent for drugs and eyeglasses prescribed.

Dr. Herbert B Wright, chairman of the Academy committee which has studied the rebate situation far several months, asked the Better Business bureau to continue the investigation to determine the extent of:

Druggists' rebates to physicians on prescriptions.

Opticians' rebate to oculists on lenses patients buy.

Rebates to doctors and surgeons from retailers of such apparatus as braces and hearing aids.

Misleading advertising.

2 Drivers Fined; Third Acquitted

Two persons were fined for traffic violations, and one was acquitted in municipal court Thursday.

Keathern Thompson, Mansfield, R. D. 1, was fined $10 and costs for unsafe operation. Elmer Holmes, R. D. 2, was fined $5 and costs for driving with improper lights. Roy Williams jr., Mansfield, R. D. 1, was found innocent of disobeying traffic signals.

Sees Atom Power 20-50 Years Off

ALBANY, N. Y.—(U.P.)—A General Electric company nucleonics expert said today that it would be "20 to 50 years" before atomic energy could be used to generate public and private power.

Bruce Prentice, in a speech to the local chapter of the National Secretaries association, said "it takes a long time to develop a new basic industry" such as atomic energy."

Employment In Area Up 18 Per Cent

18,671 Working In 41 Industries

New employment increased approximately 18 per cent in the Mansfield area in September as compared with September of last year, according to C. W. Handley, manager of the Mansfield Ohio State Employment office.

Applicants referred to employers last month totaled 1,051. An estimated 50 per cent of thhese were actually hired as compared with 437 hired in September of last year.

There were fewer job-seekers last month than in any other month of the year excepting April. That situation is expected to change because of the seasonal curtailment of construction and farm work, Handley said.

18,671 EMPLOYED

Total employment of 41 reporting area industries increased from 18,126 in August to 18,671 in September. Local industry expects a slight increase during the next few months to a total of 19,333 employed, Handley reported.

Present trends in Mansfield employment show a decided preference for male help over female. Of 50 female job-openings, 75 per cent were restricted to experienced applicants, 60 per cent called for over a 40-hour week, and 20 per cent were restricted to a maximum age of 35 years.

Highest wages paid to female help averaged $200 monthly for secretaries and lowest wages of $90 per month were paid to typists. There were few calls for female employment in the manufacturing industries.

Eight Billion In Aid Seen

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Regardless of the outcome of the November elections, the next Congress faces the prospect of acting on a record-breaking foreign aid program of over $8,000,000,000, a United Press survey disclosed today.

The estimate, compiled from official sources, compares with about $7,000,000,000 authorized by the 80th Congress for economic and military aid through June 30, 1949. Recipients are western Europe, Trieste, Austria, Greece, Turkey, China, Japan and Korea.

The biggest single amount next year will be over $4,000,000,000 for the second year of the European Recovery Program. Then there are expected to be requests totalling $1,500,000,000 or more for re-arming western Europe as this country's first line of defense. And more aid is in the works for China, Japan and Korea because of communist threats in Asia.

Budget bureau officials said the outcome of next month's elections will not change the foreign aid plan now being developed.

Sees Soviet Collapse

DALLAS—(INS)—A historian who successfully predicted World War II believes the Russian government will collapse within five years.

Will Durant told a Dallas civic club last night, that "if Russia gets the atom bomb during that time, she might use it. But I'm betting on a collapse from within."

Durant, who in 1937 told a Dallas audience that a World War was inevitable, declared that communism has spread because it is a myth which has caught the fancy of a starving world.

He termed the race between Russia and the United States a race between food and a myth.

Grandma would Sympathize-

(She didn't have a Steel Refrigerator either)

Today twenty million American families are enjoying the ease and benefits of modern refrigerators made of steel. Father, Mother and the children have a wider variety of foods to choose from – health-building foods kept fresh all year 'round.

Last year from their greatest peace-time production in history, America's steel mills provided the steel to make 5,000,000 new refrigerators – along with steel for everything else. And this year the mills are turning out even more steel than in 1947.

In supplying steel for better living, the steel companies make possible:

For You – dependable refrigeration year in and year out.

For Steel Workers – many thousands of jobs at good wages.

For Everybody – health and progress.

IN THE NEWS . . . America's steel companies have kept down prices. While the average wholesale price of basic commodities has increased about 118 per cent since 1939, the average price of steel has gone up only 62 per cent.

IN THE NEWS . . . Last year steel companies earned an average of 6.3 cents on the sales dollar – a lot less than people believe is fair. Most people think a fair profit would be 10 cents or more.

this is news to me!

Richland County Vets Paid $1,971,459 In State Bonuses

Area Total Exceeds $5,000,000

Payments Here Average $309

About two-thirds of the 9,000 Richland county veterans of World War II who are eligible for state bonuses had received their payments by Sept. 30, it was reported today in Columbus.

Six thousand and 360 Richland county veterans have received a total of $1,971,459 since the World War II compensation fund began making payments last spring.

A total of $5,412,456 has been paid to 17,623 veterans in the seven county area surrounding Mansfield.

The average payment per claim in Richland county was $309.98, slightly below the state average of $312. Claims have been paid to 4,687 Army veterans and 1,673 Navy veterans in Richland county.

The average payment in Ashland county was $304.08 for a total payment of $669,591.

Veterans in Crawford county have received a total of $832,848 with the average payment amounting to $307.66.

Holmes county veterans have received an average payment of $305.95 and a total of $221,934.

HURON TOTAL $811,149

In Huron county the average payment was $307.14, and the total $811,149.

Veterans in Knox county have received an average payment of $307.16 for a total of $676681.

In Morrow county the average payment was $295.22 and the total $228,794.

Chester W. Goble, director of the compensation fund, said that applicants with numbers lower than 689,000 who have not yet received payment could be reasonably certain that their claims had been referred to a special section for additional information.

First DP's Due In U. S. Nov. 1

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The first group of displaced Europeans granted entry into the U. S will sail for New York from Bremerhaven, Germany, on Oct 22, a House immigration subcommittee was advised today.

The first sailing originally was scheduled for Oct. 12, but the ship was delayed en route from South Africa.

The vessel, carrying approximately 550 men, woman and children originally from Poland and the Baltic countries, was expected to arrive in New York City Nov. 1

Permanents Called Morale Builders

Sick Get Beauty Treatments

PRETTIED IN BED — Mrs. Grayson Wood, Mansfield, R. D. 2, whose daughter was born last Thursday, gets herself dolled up at General hospital by Miss Dorothy Furbee, trained cosmetologist. "I think it's wonderful," Mrs. Wood said of the beauty service.

Are you wondering what to get for that friend of yours who has been in the hospital for the past couple of days, or weeks?

You've sent her all the usual things, flowers, cards, and little knick-knacks but now you've run out of things to send her and you'd like something new, but what?

Well, Miss Dorothy Furbee can suggest just the thing.

"Stop at the newsstand in the General hospital lobby and get a gift certificate," Miss Furbee said. "That certificate will entitle your friend to a shampoo and finger wave."

And right in General hospital, too, Miss Furbee will tell you.

Last week a shining white enamel beauty unit was installed at the hospital. From its well-equipped cabinet may evolve the right kind of things not only for a shampoo and finger-wave, but a manicure, eyebrow plucking, facials for that "pinched up" feeling, a hair conditioning, a permanent and even a hair tint.

The machine was installed by Mrs. Pearl Minnick of the Minnick Beauty school and duplicates those being placed at the disposal of patients in many of the larger cities.

"The portable services provides comfort and convenience and it is a definite morale builder," Miss Furbee explains. "It is not only a convenience to those patients who have to be in the hospital for some time, but for those who are ready to leave and will not be able to get to a beauty parlor for some time. It's a positive "builder-upper" for many women, who dislike looking frowsy or ill-kempt."

The permanent wave is a particularly valuable part of the service. The one given at the hospital is a machineless wave, so that there will be no chance of the patient being burned.

NEEDS DOCTOR'S OK

Since Miss Furbee performs this beauty service only with a doctor's permission, there is no chance of unpleasant complications.

The beauty unit is a handsome cabinet, only 18 inches wide so that it can be moved easily through the halls. It is 35 inches long and 36 inches high and mounted on soft rubber wheels so that its transportation from one room to another is noiseless.

The drier is equipped with a customer's control switch just like the ones in a beauty parlor and may be regulated at the whim of the bed patient.

Miss Furbee, who is an experienced cosmetologist, is on duty from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m. The other day she had eight "customers," with prices ranging comparable to those in a beauty shop.

"In addition to the patients, nurses and nurses' aides may also benefit from this machine," Miss Furbee added. "In their off-duty hours, they, too, may be prettied for that evening date."

Cigaret Smoking Increases In U. S., Report Reveals

WASHINGTON — (UP) —Cigaret smoking is on the increase, the Agriculture department reported today.

People are taking more slowly to pipe and cigar smoking, use of chewing tobacco is on a slight downgrade; and snuff taking remains the same.

In its periodic report on the tobacco situation, the department said total cigaret output next year will probably approach 385,000,000,000 This is 25,000,000,000 more than for 1947.

Arthur G. Conover, statistician for the Bureau of Agricultural economics, gave four reasons for the uptrend:

1. Women are still entering the ranks of smokers
2. People start smoking at an earlier age.
3. Cigarettes are a "good buy" as prices go in this inflation period.
4. War tensions accustomed people to smoking a lot.

Cigaret consumption this year in the U.S. and by servicemen overseas is more than twice as large as in 1939, the report said. A one-cent rise last July in the cost of a pack had little effect on buyers, although a few may have decided to roll their own.

Ohio Community's Gas Rate Boosted

JACKSON —(UP)— City council Thursday granted a 71-cent rate to the Ohio Fuel Gas company which will boost the average consumer's bill 30 cents a month. The rate was described as 71 cents per 1,000 feet.

The new gas rates are 20 cents per 100 cubic feet for the first 500 feet, six cents for the next 1,500 feet and 5½ cents for all in excess of 2,000 feet. The contract provides for free gas for the two municipal buildings.

Ambitious Goal Set By Legion

Seeks 5 Million '49 Memberships

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(AP—The American Legion, which opens its 30th national convention in Miami Sunday, has set the most ambitious goal of its history for 1949—5,000,000 members.

The campaign is being undertaken in the face of a post-war slump in membership which has affected all organizations of war veterans.

The Legion now has a record number of posts—more than 17,000—but its membership as of Oct. 8 was 3,065,614, as compared with 3,249,303 a year ago.

Legion officials believe the decline is only temporary, paralleling a similar drop that overtook the organization after the first World War. Its membership of 845,186 in 1920 fell to 609,407 by 1825 but hit a between-the-wars peak of 1,053,909 in 1931, a period of national depression.

With interest in national defense rising and millions of veterans of the second World War as potential members, the Legion sees a period of rapid growth and increasing influence ahead.

Significantly, women are playing a larger role in its activities. The 3,000,000th member enrolled in 1948 was a former WAVE—Mrs. R. J. Deland, 24, of Seattle. Her husband, also a veteran, became Legionnaire number 3,000,001.

Today there are more than 250,000 former WAVES, WACS, SPARS and nurses in the Legion. There are some 203 all-women posts—but most of the girls prefer to join up with "co-ed" posts.

The Legion, the largest but neither the first nor the last association of war veterans in American history, was conceived three decades ago in Paris by two wounded soldiers—an officer and an enlisted man.

They were the late Theodore Roosevelt jr., then a lieutenant-colonel in the First Infantry division, and Sgt. William Patterson. They agreed that as soon as the war was over they would return home and work together to start a veterans' organization "for the good of the country."

Patterson returned to his outfit and was killed in action. But "Young Teddy," who was to die a brigadier general in France in the second World War, carried out the project.

An early hurdle overcome by the Legion was the fear by many enlisted men that it would become "an officers' club" and an instrument for those seeking political office. It specifically proclaimed it would be non-political in its act of incorporation.

STRIKERS RETURN

PARIS—(UP)—More than 40,000 steel workers in Lorraine agreed Thursday to return to their jobs, ending a three-week walkout and bringing a major break in the nationwide French strikes.

Good News For Working Mothers

F-H Plans Pre-School Nursery

An announcement of interest to Mansfield mothers who must seek employment to supplement the family income was made today by Russell E. Gimbel of the Friendly House. He disclosed plans for a full-time pre-school nursery, which will be an important part of the new Settlement House, scheduled for completion early in March.

Plans for the new program, which have been approved by the Ohio Department of Public Welfare, call for a 40x40 room, on the south side of the new building on North Mulberry street.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Gimbel are enthusiastic about the room, which will be well-lighted with the installation of windows along the entire south side. Adjoining will be a kitchen with modern equipment. There also will be office space for the nursery school teacher an isolation room for sick children individual lockers for each of the youngsters and a wash-room which will include junior-size toilet facilities.

A glass observation room also will be built, where parents and visitors may observe the children without disturbing the classroom routine.

EVEN A PIANO

Small tables and chairs and cots all portable, have been provided for the school and the floors will be covered with linoleum which will appeal to the youngsters. A piano will be provided as well as toys for the children.

The nursery will accommodate a capacity of 40 children and the staff will include a trained supervisor and assistant, a cook and dietician and an assistant.

"We feel that our Friendly House nursery school will be one of the finest in the state," Gimbel said.

In addition to the regular staff, it was stated that volunteer help from the women of Mansfield will be required, with three women to assist five days each week.

These volunteers will be needed between the hours of 10 a. m. and 2 p. m., which will cover visiting hours, nap periods and refreshment-time.

Hours of operation are indefinite, Gimbel said, and will depend entirely on the working schedules in Mansfield factories.

CONDUCTS CLASSES

At present Mrs. Gimbel conducts a morning kindergarten at the Friendly House, which has 40 youngsters enrolled, with a waiting list of 16 children. This class is in operation five days a week.

With completion of the new building, a larger program of activities will be offered the youths of the Friendly House, Gimbel said. In their present quarters they provide activities for nearly 500 boys and girls each week, with one of their most active groups being the teen-agers.

Other popular features of the Settlement House schedule are basketball games, as well as girls' gym classes.

Probably one of the best-known of all Friendly House activities is the summer camp at Hidden Hollow which last summer, during its eight weeks' session, attracted 795 boys and girls from all sections of the city.

The Friendly House is another of the Red Feather agencies of the Mansfield Community Chest, which starts its annual drive for funds Monday, Oct. 18.

NURSERY SCENE—Scenes like this will be re-enacted many times next summer when Mansfield's first full-time nursery school goes into operation at the new Friendly House, which is scheduled for completion early in March. The nursery school will be for pre-school children whose mothers are employed in Mansfield.

New 3-Cent Stamp Honors Firemen

One more commemorative stamp was added to the growing list yesterday when the Volunteer Firemen's stamp arrived at the Mansfield post office.

The red stamp marks the 300th anniversary of the founding of the volunteer firemen's organization in America. The stamp pictures early and modern fire engines and bears the wording: "Volunteer Firemen, 1648-1848. Unselfish public service, courage, duty."

The Mansfield office received 5,000 of the stamps. They are issued in sheets of 50.

13 Brownies Promoted

Thirteen members of Brownie troop No. 34 became intermediate Girl Scouts at fly-up ceremonies held at Carpenter school Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Margaret Rooney, executive director of Girl Scouts, spoke briefly to the girls and presented them with their pins. The Brownies were presented to Miss Rooney by members of troop No. 31.

Mothers and friends of the Brownies attended the ceremonies which were followed by refreshments and a social hour.

Mrs. Ward Holdridge headed the committee in charge of refreshments and the social hour.

Those who became intermediate Girl Scouts were Barbara Foster, Carolyn Frasher, Charleen Gerseman, Harriet Holdridge, Diane Hardin, Maria Knapp, Pat Johnston, Phyliss Otto, Mary Alice Sposito, Frances Shafer, Ann Jerger, Marlena Kalbfleisch and Mary Louise Bosh.

Mrs. C. F. Brickley is leader of troop No. 34 and Mrs. John Foster is assistant leader.

Unbeaten Grid Teams Clash At Ram Field

Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

THERE MUST be easier things to do than pick the football winners . . . In fact, almost anything would be more pleasant . . . The last two weeks the World Series must have put a damper on the antics of the Stuffer's prognostication stogie. . . . That's the best excuse we can give for getting 58 right, 22 wrong and one tie. . . . For the season the figures read 181, 61 and 12 . . . The high schools have been most kind. . . . Only one miss has been registered in eight calls. . . . The midwest brough us down last week. . . . We had only seven of 15 when Texas lost to Oklahoma, Missouri upset Southern Methodist, Pittsburgh defeated West Virginia, TCU took Indiana, Colorado won over Nebraska, Michigan over Purdue and Northwestern over Minnesota. . . . Those were the misses. . . . On the high school front again we have to string along with the two Mansfield schools. . . . Senior high should take Springfield by three touchdowns and Madison over Loudonville by two. . . . So down the headache trail to the college fields of battle.

Madison 11 Plays Tough Loudonville

By CHARLEY STINE

Homecoming, new stands, and a battle between two undefeated football teams will be the attraction tonight as Madison's Ram field plays host to what may be its biggest crowd.

Coach Ennis Walker's unbeaten gridiron warriors will tangle with the Loudonville Red Birds of Elmer Boyer in the feature set to get underway at 8 p. m. It will be the only Friday night home game of the year for Madison.

Loudonville brings a record of four lopsided victories to the game while Madison has gained three decisions.

Only common foe of the teams is New London, and by comparative scores, Loudonville rates a decided edge. The Birds walloped New London, 41-0, while Madison beat them by a score of only 25-6. In the Loudonville game, however, the Wildcats were without the services of their prize back, Orrie Close

In size, Madison carries a decided edge as it holds a four pound weight advantage per man in the line. The backfield weights are even farther apart as the Rams outweigh their foes by an average of over ten pounds.

Loudonville has a quartet of scat backs who may give the Ram line trouble, however. The Madison forward wall has time and again held up under terrific pounding through the middle, but has shown a decided slowness in catching up to long sweeps.

In quarterback Bill Foster, Loudonville has a fine passer who can also tote the ball if necessary.

Coach Walker will stick to the same lineup which he has used in the past several games. It is the same team which started the season except for End Ed Locke, who replaced Russell Glenn, out with a broken ankle.

TWO BIG BANDS

The 70-piece Loudonville marching band will join with Madison's 55-piece Green Wave in elaborate half-time ceremonies Traditional crowning of the Homecoming queen will be done at that time

The new steel bleachers on the west side of the field will be in use for the first time at the game and are expected to be taxed to capacity

Indians to Get Honors At Champions Night

CLEVELAND —(AP)— "Champions Night" will be held here Oct 26 by the Junior Chamber of Commerce for Lou Boudreau, Gene Bearden and Bill Veeck of the Cleveland Indians

Boudreau will be honored as manager and player of the year, Bearden as No. 1 rookie and Veeck as a producer of champions.

Ohio's Undefeated College List at Shrinking Stage

By JOHN BARRINGTON, INS Sports Writer

Ohio's undefeated collegiate football ranks may shrink like a modern-day dollar before the weekend is over.

Seven teams enter this week's warfare unbeaten and untied and two move have been tied once although they are undefeated

Of those, Denison, Heidelberg, Bowling Green and Wilmington have the best chance of continuing unscathed.

Kent State, Baldwin-Wallace, Wilberforce and Miami have a heavy day's work ahead of them, and Ohio Northern's chances don't appear worth going out on a limb over.

Denison, with 132 points against 13 for the opposition in three games, seeks its 14th straight victory when it invades Wooster to renew the state's second oldest grid rivalry.

SMOOTH SAILING

Heidelberg should have fairly smooth sailing the rest of the season if it succeeds in hurdling Otterbein this week. Until last Saturday, the Student Princes were expected to do just that, and without much trouble. However, the Otters demand more respect after trouncing Indiana Central, 46 to 0

Bowling Green seeks its fourth in a row this year against Morris Harvey, which was slaughtered, 53 to 7, last week by Baldwin-Wallace Wilmington, with three wins and a tie, faces a Rio Grande team that hasn't scored a point in four straight losses.

Kent State meets a stiff opponent in Central Michigan, which lost to Bowling Green by one point, 13-12, and to Western Michigan last week, 7-0.

John Carroll may prove a handful for undefeated Baldwin-Wallace if Blue Streak victories over Toledo and Youngstown are any criterion. Wilberforce's homecoming opponent is Grambling.

Miami may find a tartar in Xavier, defeated only by the University of Kentucky in four games.

Ohio Northern faces the most menacing foe of all, Muskingum, which has swamped Capital and Akron and lost only to Heidelberg.

The Mid-American conference's three co-leaders, Western Michigan, Miami and Cincinnati, all play outside games this week. Western Michigan goes to Iowa Teachers and Cincinnati to Mississippi State while Miami is entertaining Xavier.

ONE IN CONFERENCE

Western Reserve and Ohio U. play the only conference game at Athens Ohio U is seeking its first victory of the season while Reserve finally broke into the win column last week

Other contests. Findlay vs Ashland at Fremont, Dayton at Toledo; Ohio State at Indiana; Ohio Weslevan at Case; Oberlin vs. Hamilton at Clinton, N Y., Youngstown at Oklahoma City; Huntington, Ind., at Defiance; Louisville at Akron; Detroit Tech at Cedarville, Kenyon vs. Olivet at Mt. Vernon, and Grove City, Pa., at Hiram.

Chicago Sox May Feel Axe

CHICAGO — (INS) — Chicago White Sox fans—a few still remain—kept their eyes on Jack Onslow today.

The newly-appointed manager promised them he is going to make a series of deals to bring the Sox out of the American league cellar, where they landed this season after dropping 101 games.

Onslow said no one on the team is sure of being with it in 1949. He declared:

"Every guy we have is on the block, theoretically, at least."

Los Angeles 11 Plays Baltimore In Feature Tilt

NEW YORK —(AP)— A big weekend of professional football will get under way tonight with two games in the all-America conference, Los Angeles playing host to Baltimore in the feature.

In the other game tonight the Chicago Rockets, last-placers in the western division, will visit the Brooklyn Dodgers, last-placers in the east.

In all-America games on Sunday, the unbeaten San Francisco Forty-Niners visit the New York Yankees, while the also unbeaten Cleveland Browns play host to Buffalo.

In the National league on Sunday, it's the Chicago Cards visiting the New York Giants, the Detroit Lions playing the Chicago Bears in Chicago, the Los Angeles Rams visiting the Green Bay Packers, the Philadelphia Eagles at the Washington Redskins, and the Pittsburgh Steelers visiting the Boston Yanks.

Mangrum Leads

GLENDALE, Calif. — (AP) — Pap-per Lloyd Mangrum led the procession into the second round of the $15 000 Glendale open golf tournament today, teeing off with a two-stroke lead over the field. He posted a 67 for the first 18 holes

Senior High Looks For Grid Revenge

SPRINGFIELD—Revenge will be foremost in the minds of the Mansfield Senior high school football team today at 8:15 p. m. when it runs up against the Springfield Wildcats in the Charles W. Evans stadium.

The Tygers well remember Springfield's visit last year at Mansfield's Arlin field. On that occasion, the undefeated Bengals lost to a run-of-the-mill Wildcat outfit, 32 to 6. The Wildcats used that game as a springboard and were mighty tough the remainder of the season

Eleven lettermen are on the present squad of Coach Jim McDonald but the team has shown the same lethargy which existed in the first few games of 1947. Springfield has won only one contest, beating Piqua in the second game, 37 to 13.

Losses have been absorbed at the hands of Toledo Libbey, 21 to 6; Portsmouth, 20 to 19, and Middletown, 33 to 20. Mansfield defeated the same Portsmouth club, 33 to 0, the third straight win for the Tygers over Ohio opposition.

GOOD OFFENSIVES

Both teams have shown offensive power but have been lax on the defensive side of the ledger. The Tygers have scored 100 points to 45 for the opposition while the Springfield record is 83 and 89.

Normally, the Tygers could look beyond Springfield at the Massillon game coming up next Friday Senior high is rated a big edge over the 'cats but two things throw a monkey wrench into that outlook

First, last year the same situation existed. Second, Springfield has a weight advantage of approximately 16 5 per man. That's a lot of beef.

However, the Bengal running attack ate up 398 yards against

CLIVE RUSH

Portsmouth and there is no indication it will be halted tonight.

A. C. Jenkins and Joe Miller were the big backfield noises last week, although little Tommy Tucker is still the team's leading scorer

Mansfield Thinclads Take 21st

Mansfield's Senior high's well-balanced cross country team raced to its 21st straight victory yesterday, defeating the strong Columbust West thinclads, 24 to 31, over the Coolridge course.

The West team was Columbus district champion in 1947 and placed ninth in the state competition over the two-mile Mansfield layout. The Tygers won the Toledo district last year and finished seventh in the state meet.

YIELDS VICTOR

Although winning the meet, Senior high yielded a first place for the first time in three years. Sophomore Bill Coup sprinted past the Tygers' Rudy Sheetz in the final 100 feet to win in 11 minutes, 26 3 seconds.

Sheetz had won two firsts this year and Jerry Gerrell, one.

Bill VanAtta of Columbus nabbed the third position but Alan Poorman, George Middlebrook, Jim Kibler and Gerrell hauled down the next four places. Bob Shade coached the Bengal team.

Senior high runs in a triangular affair Saturday morning in Akron. The Tygers go against Akron East and Akron Garfield at the Goodyear recreation park. East won second in the 1947 state meet.

Feller's Salary Won't Be Cut

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK —(AP)—Rumors to the contrary, Bob Feller will not be asked to take a cut from his $80 000 salary of last season.

Rapid Robert is the guy who says so and the one who should know. And if anyone is worried about the condition of his paycheck right arm, Feller says "My arm feels strong and I am to keep it that way by not going barnstorming this winter. I honestly feel I'm in for a fine season in 1949.

The pride of Van Meter, Ia., said he had not yet signed his '49 contract. But the hint was there that it had been thoroughly discussed with Cleveland President Bill Veeck.

Although Feller experienced his poorest year since he joined the Indians 13 years ago, Boss Veeck has full faith in the former farm boy who became the greatest pitcher of his generation.

Veeck is so confident that Feller will regain his topflight form that he already has declared that the Indians' 1949 pitching staff once again will be built around the 29-year old fireballer.

Following Cleveland's World Series triumph, Veeck remarked:

"We have a pitching staff that is good for five more years. Bob Feller still is the best pitcher in baseball. He will prove that next year. He helped us tremendously despite the fact he lost two World Series games. Remember, he won seven straight during our stretch drive. Without him, we couldn't have won the pennant.

Behind Feller we will have Bob Lemon, Gene Bearden and Steve Gromek"

"Why do people insist that I can't win the big games?" he asked.

"I know I was plain lousy out there on the mound Sunday. I didn't have a thing and I got my brains belted out. I have no excuse to offer. But what about those other so-called "crucial" games I lost, and that 1-0 two-hitter in the first series game?

"Sure I was the losing pitcher in that game that decided the 1940 pennant," Feller continued. "I remember the game well. How can I forget it? Somebody is always bringing that up. But do they go on to say that Detroit beat me by a score of 2-0, and that I held the Tigers to three hits? They do not.

"They point out that I was beaten by the Tigers in the game that would have clinched the flag this year. That was a big one I couldn't win, they say. That's true. But how about those seven straight I won just before that defeat?

Bob admitted his failure to win a series game, an ambition he'd nourished for 13 years, was a bitter blow.

"But the most important thing was winning the series," he said earnestly. "The fans in Cleveland deserved it. They had waited 28 years for it and they supported us wonderfully all year.

"My own ambition can wait. But I don't thnik I will have to wait long. We've got a fine young ball club that should be better next year and I think we'll win the flag again. Then I'll get my chance."
